THE FLIP SIDE

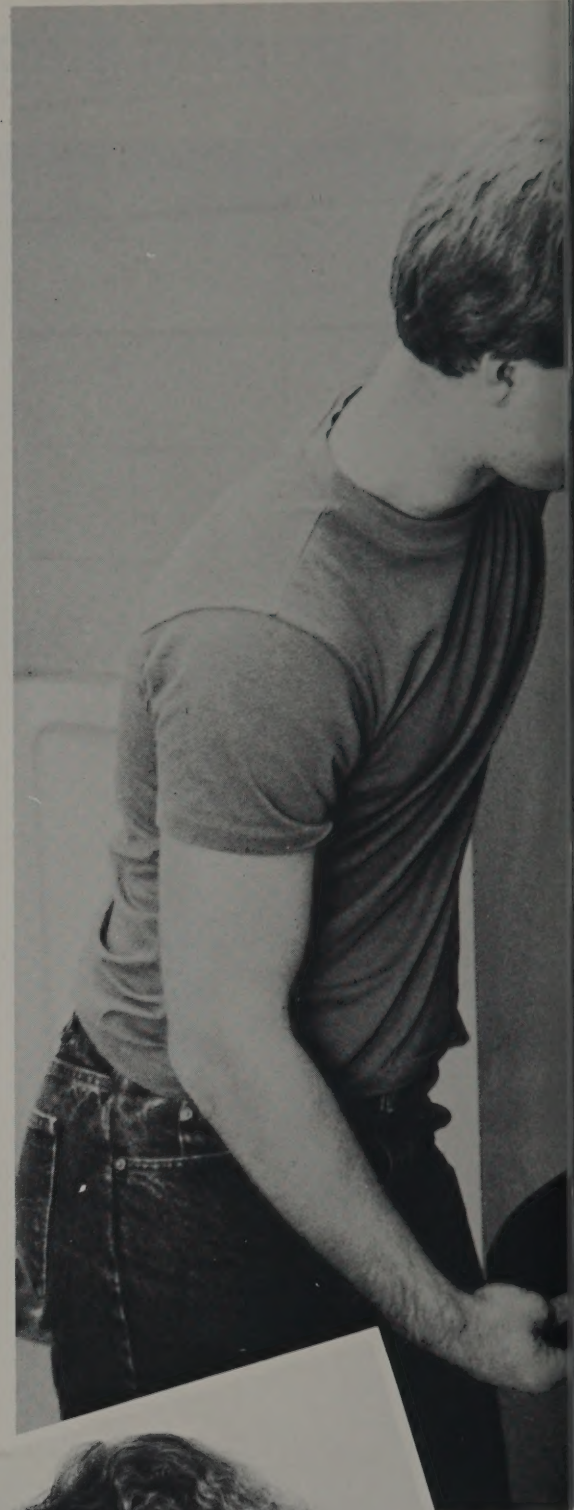

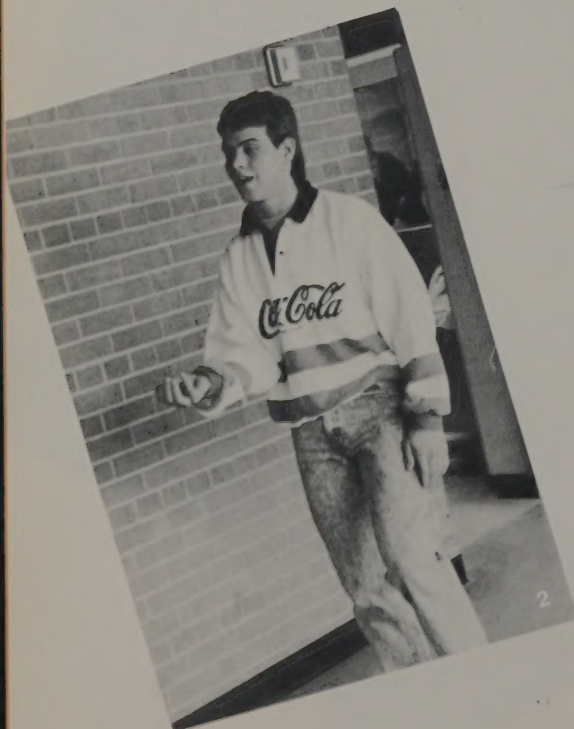

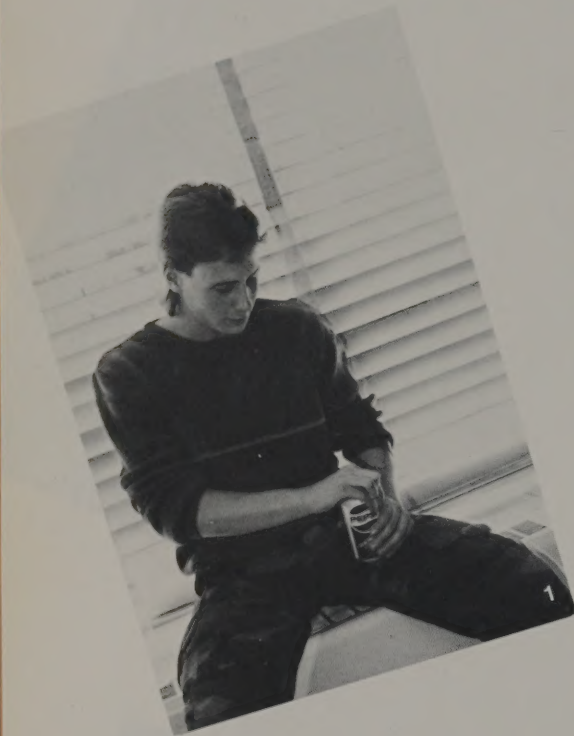

Many students at West achieve glory and fame. Some get awards in athletics, some in academics, and some in other activities. The Flip Side to all of the glamour and glory is the hard work these students put forth to achieve their goals.

When the West football team comes out of a game with a victory, everybody cheers and pats the team members on the back; however, the Flip Side to a victory is all the pain, mud, and sacrifices that players go through.

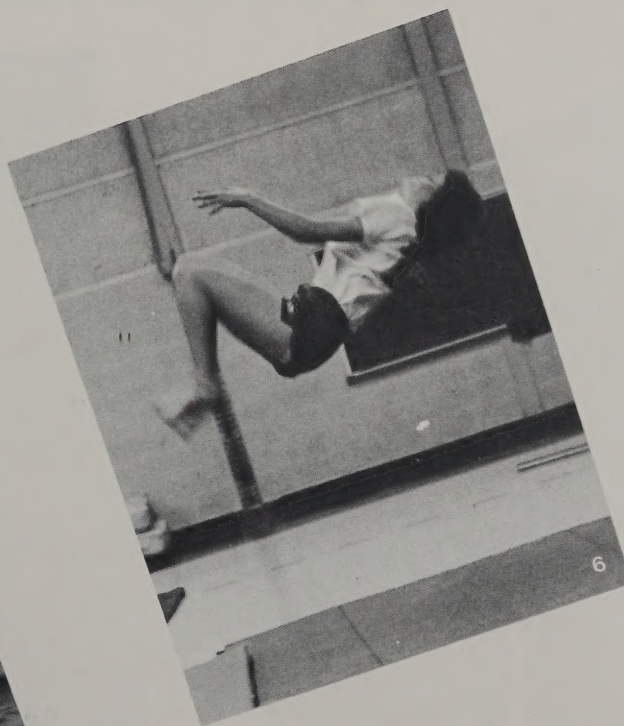

When a student receives straight A's, fellow class members look upon that student as a brain or a geek, while parents and teachers look upon them as the ideal, exceptional kid. The Flip Side to getting good grades, however, is the long nights of studying for tests, getting your homework done on time, and also a lot of peer pressure.

The Flip Side also has material connotations too . . . During the 1950's, flip hairdo's were the sensation of the nation. Nowadays flip-top pop cans and toothpaste containers are common in all family households.

As you can see, the Flip Side has many meanings and dimensions to it; it's not limited to just flipping pancakes or coins . . .

Summer for many West students was a blast. Fun was a good word to describe what numerous students had. However, flipping out was more to the point. Kids played, worked, and socialized. Many students felt that the summer went by too quickly, but you know how that goes. When you're having fun (flipping out) time flies.

There was a variety of activities that teens ventured into. Many went to popular resorts with their families, while others just hung around in Oshkosh. Some wanted more of a challenge; they entered contests, tournaments, and even races. Others thought of summer as a time to make money. They got jobs working at various stores, while some even became lawn boys.

All West students flipped out in one way or another during summer vacation. Kids became more independent and outgoing. They tried to show that summer was not only for the college prep or retired Senior Citizen. It gave new life to teenagers. They had a wild time, an exciting time, but mainly . . . a flipping good time.

1. The crowd moves toward the rappers. 2. Becky Steinhilber and Heidi Neustifter sport their Hawaiian attire. 3. Sophomore representatives, Brent Nemeth and Amy Ronson are announced at halftime. 4. Kristina Hamer carefully shaves her balloon.

Indianfest 1987 was no less than spectacular. During the start of the week students came out flipping on the various dress up days wearing odd items of clothing from all out pajamas to blue and white uniforms that included the dye in the hair. Class money jars, billboard and courtyard competitions, the court elections, and the unusual announcements caused students to flip.

By the end of the week, students were ready for the big weekend. On Friday night, a large crowd of students attended the pep rally and the bonfire. The Indianfest court was announced and the fun started. A flipping attitude showed up on many kid's faces as they listened to members of the West football team rap to the beat of electric drums during the pep rally.

But this was not the end. On Saturday a parade over a mile long trekked from West to Titan Stadium. Painted cars, club floats, high spirited cheerleaders, and a flipping frenzy of students marched as bystanders looked in awe. Then came the football game. Multicolored confetti was thrown all around the stands by a large wild crowd of fans as West trampled over the Menasha Bluejays.

After the victory, many kids went back to West to participate in the Indianfest games. The grapefruit pass got everyone juiced up while the balloon shave made spectators chuckle at how ridiculous the contest really was. A formal Indianfest Dance finally concluded the week's festivities leaving students exhausted. Indianfest 87' was a flipping success.

5. Lisa Borchardt makes a dummy for the Indianfest parade. 6. Getting a good view of the Indianfest parade, Patty Brady, Carolyn Ayers, and Kristen Jung stand in their car. 7. Junior Terri Moon and friends ride in the parade. 8. Vance Henke finds a unique outfit for Hawaiian day. 9. Cathy Mains and Karen Tigert get a laugh out of being slaves. 10. Lynn Brady and Lisa Kellerman participate in Blue and White day. 11. Kevin Bourne, Andy Poeschl, Andy Ambroso, Paul Freiberg, and Jeff Meinen get a good view of the auction. 12. Doug Hornburg bums around on Blue and White day in his shredded shirt. 13. Matt Martell watches Shane Lett paint his truck.

1. West football players and coaches anticipate their next move. 2. Mr. Wollerman scans the bleachers for Andy Poeschl's highest bidder at the slave auction. 3. The pep band manages to withstand the cold day and play in the homecoming parade. 4. The 1987 Indianfest court: Front-Lisa Handy, King Dave Averkamp, Queen Mary McMahon, Brian Olson. Back-Ryan Bittner, Kelly Groskreutz, Brent Nemeth, Amy Ronson, Rob Davies, Nicole Schamens. 5. The Bonfire was hot.

Indianfest 1987

6. Coach Grable calls the players into a huddle to give them a few words of encouragement. 7. Norm Graeber and Scott Thurwatcher raided their wardrobes to come up with their truly unique blue and white day fashions. 8. Sarah Cook shaves her balloon with great precision. 9. Jason Jungworth is definitely excited by the play. 10. Jenny Stromske's car was a sure winner, as it tied for first place in the car painting contest. 11. FFA's elaborate courtyard display captured many people's eyes.

OKLAHOMA: O-K!

Rodger's and Hammerstein's show Oklahoma!, may have begun with "Oh What Beautiful Morning," but for the cast and crew, West's musical was a frantic rush of preparations. Getting underway late, the members of the choirs rehearsed almost daily beginning in October. Despite cast changes, costume traumas, and a flood of last minute illnesses among the leads, the participants performed six shows on January 26th through 30th.

The story revolved around the squabbling romance of a cowboy named Curly McLain (Trevor Bruss, Scott Day) and a farm girl Laurey Williams (Gemma Sorenson, Kim Brady), with conflict provided by farm hand, Jud Fry (Jason LaRue, Mark Maronn), who also loved Laurey. The subplot involved the ditzy farmer's daughter Ado Annie (Tiffany Lynch, Jenny McLean), her dim-witted suitor Will Parker (Eric Manthei, Kevin Barthel), and the silver-tongued peddler Ali Hakim (Andy Hintz, Jason Hall). Supporting roles included Aunt Eller (Lisa Reichenberger, Sarah Cook), Andrew Carnes (John Monnett, Steve Trout), and Slim (Mike Last).

Director Larry Klausch said he was "very pleased with the performances . . . we had two fine casts."

1. Aunt Eller (Lisa Reichenberger) chums butter as she talks to the cowboys. 2. Tiffany Lynch as Ado Annie Carnes and Andy Hintze as Ali Hakim converse. 3. Along with hard work put in by the chorus, there were many long hours put in by members of the Pit Orchestra. 4. Members of the chorus sing the finale "Oh What a Beautiful Morning" as the scene comes to an end.

5. Kim Brady as Laurey and Steve Troudt as Andrew Cames, along with other members of the chorus, sing "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning." 6. Leads Gemma Sorenson and Trevor Bruss sing "The Surry with the Fringe on Top." 7. (Lisa Reichenberger) Aunt Ellier looks on as Ali Hakim (Andy Hintze) tries to make a sale. 8. Gemma Sorenson as Laurey Williams along with other girls of the chorus sing the selection "Out of My Dreams."

CHOIRS HOLDS A HECTIC NOTE

Often you might have heard a member of the choirs comment about their "musical study hall," but it was far from the truth. There may have been no tests or homework, but for the members of the Choristers, Treble, A Cappella, and Chorale choirs, it was a hectic year. They began by preparing for the Christmas concert, held on December 8th. At the same time came tryouts and selections for the years' madrigal singers, and for the musical, "Oklahoma!" After the Christmas Concert, the singers launched into the final weeks of rehearsal for "Oklahoma!", which was performed for the elementary schools on January 26th, for the West student body and the middle schools on the 27th, and for the public in the evenings of the 28th, 29th, and 30th.

Moving into spring the members of the choirs participated in the District Solo/Ensemble Festival at Appleton West High School on March 5th, and those who qualified advanced to State competitions in Green Bay on May 7th. The Spring Frolics concert on May 26th gave students a chance to perform a showcase of lighter entertainment. Chorale alone took part in the annual All City Musical Festival on March 22, along with the fifth graders of Oshkosh, the middle school choirs, and the top choir of North.

The choirs finished their year by playing at the commencement ceremonies for graduation. Both Chorale and A Cappella performed the traditional "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

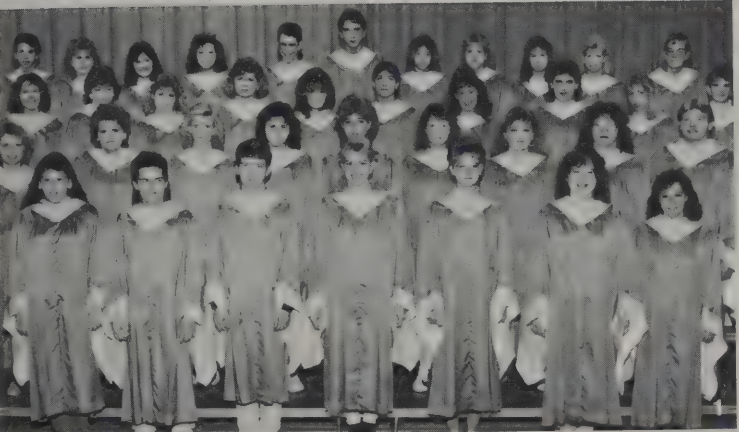

"The choirs had a fantastic year," stated director Larry Klausch. "It was an experience I'll never forget," stated senior Steve Troudt.

1. Libby Kimball, Siegfried Presser, Julie Nozar and Ingrid Presser pick up their robes. 2. Members of Chorale warm up their voices by singing a few tunes. 3. A Cappella rehearses a song for the Christmas concert. 4. Scott Esselman helps hand out oranges for the annual fruit sale. 5. Members of chorus perform "Carol of the Bells" at the Christmas concert. 6. Jason Hall and Steve Troudt take a break during class. 7. Juniors Marci Heiser and Sarah Cook concentrate on hitting the right notes. 8. Kim Brady puts in extra practice for her role in Oklahoma!

LARUE, BRUSS LEAD MADRIGAL GROUPS

"Have you seen anyone in funny costumes?" It was a common question as the 1987 Madrigal Singers rushed about, battling the December ice and snow enroute to spreading their musical Christmas cheer to the community. Bells and folders in tow, the groups of 13, led by student directors Jason LaRue and Trevor Bruss, performed over 40 shows each during their brief season.

"The madrigals this year were wonderful," said director Larry Klausch. "I was very proud of two very fine performance groups."

Madrigals is a unique experience, and the aura was captured best by sophomore Jenny MacLean and junior Marci Heiser: "It's so odd how a month ago I didn't even know some of you. Now, here we are, laughing and talking like the greatest of friends. Because we are. We survived the shouting, the crying, and most of all, the shows. We gained a family. We came from different aspects of life for a common cause, singing, and when it finally ended, we left with a much stronger bond no one could understand" (MacLean).

Memories of the season about among the members, from Rodney Raindeer and "the pelvic thrust," to the chanting of "Proud to wear tights!" "My dress splitting at our first show" (Colleen Saunders), "Certain unmentionable members stripping in my livingroom" (John Monnett), "Pushing my button . . . FLUFFY!" Tiffany Lynch), "The wrong bell at the concert" (Christine Oien), "Dropping my bell at the Paine" (Jody Geiger), "Modeling my Christmas underwear" (Erik Kovach), "Yuppies" (Mike Last), "The madrigal hot tub choir" (Kim Brady), "Jason Hall on the escalator at Pranges . . . CLUNK!" (Kevin Barthel).

CONCERT BAND GAINS STATE AND LOCAL FAME

State recognition came to West Bands when Concert Band was chosen out of hundreds of entrants to perform at the music conference in Madison. Selected by an anonymous taped audition, they performed ten works written by contemporary Wisconsin composers at the Wisconsin Music Educators' Conference in October. One of these, "Caduceus for Solo Horn and Band", was written by Dr. Schmalz himself. Douglas Hill, a renowned horn player and composer from UW-Madison, performed with the band. Steve Johnson said, "We were selected out of the other concert bands in the state, so that says a lot for our band and for Dr. Schmalz."

Local attention followed in November over the holiday parade controversy. It all started on WOSH's morning program "Coffee Break", with a heated discussion about why the bands wouldn't march in the holiday parade. West band member Pete Hodge later said in a letter to the editor of the Northwestern that marching in the cold is bad for the valves and also for the oil that is in the valves. All this sparked a short lived city wide fund drive for the purchasing of new uniforms.

The rest of the year went as planned. The bands performed at their "Fall", "Pop's West", and Concert band's "Our Own" concert.

CHICAGO TRIP HIGHLIGHTS ORCHESTRA YEAR

The orchestras combined totalled 49 members. "This is an extremely low number compared to other high schools," stated Mr. Schwebke.

One of the main highlights for students was a trip on March 29 to Chicago where students spent the day touring a museum, shopping at one of the larger and elaborate malls, dining at a mouth-watering restaurant. Of course, these events were just an overture to the main purpose of the trip which was to see the Chicago Symphony Orchestra perform many breath-taking pieces.

Other events which occurred were concerts, participation in the Solo/Ensemble Festival, and the annual fruit sale which raised money to purchase needed tuxedos. Also, a number of concerts took place in which many challenging new pieces were performed and took many long hours of practicing.

1. Andy Bowen and John Hergert take a break from playing "Tubby the Tuba." 2. Sophomore Danny Wang and junior Dave Wiegman tune their instruments before beginning practice for their upcoming concert. 3. Nicole Sorenson, junior, shifts from the simplest first position while playing "Yesterday." 4. Sarah Muinde enthusiastically practices the "Walbash Cannonball." 5. Sophomore Tim Bradley exhibits his talents as he plays the bass guitar. 6. Senior Beth Rosenberg concentrates as she plays a happy tune. 7. Wynette Falkin and Kelly Bishop, both viola players, warm up as symphony band members enter the scene.

STUDENT COUNCIL PUMPS UP THE 1987-88' YEAR

The 1987-1988 school year paved the way for a rejuvenated, reorganized Student Council. Under the coordination of Mr. Thompson and some sixty or more students, the council organized more than one hundred different activities for the student body. Along with the usual flower sales, sign making, and dances, the Student Council added many new activities. Some included were the first sock hop in the gymnasium, the Student and Faculty Member of the Month Awards, a blood drive, and a cornucopia of competitions.

Led by four seniors, President Gemma Sorenson, Vice President Tim Chiang, Secretary Jenny Henke, and Treasurer Roxanne Tigert, the Student Council shifted onto a more positive direction and generated a special charisma within the school. Odd announcements over the P.A. system and pizza parties sponsored by the Student Council were not uncommon.

Junior Lori Hamann said, "Student Council is super. The council is better organized this year. It gets other students involved in school activities. The highlight of the year for the council was the putting together of Indianfest '87." "A lot of time was spent in preparation for this big event," commented senior Tim Chiang. What resulted was one of the best Indianfest's ever. More than 60 cars, half a dozen floats, and three marching bands took part in the parade that day. After the West victory in football, the Indianfest games attracted over 150 students. To top it off with class, a formal dance ended the high spirited weekend.

"Student Council has changed my attitudes towards school. It has made me want to make West a better place for everyone," said sophomore Krista Blomberg.

INVOLVEMENT IN FOREIGN STUDIES INCREASES

With an increasing number of students involved in foreign languages, Spanish Club looked forward to a prosperous year. The club meetings were led by one of the girls on the six member Board of Directors. The club became a member of the Spanish honor Society. Several students worked at a small folk fair held at the Convention Center in November. Jenny Stromske commented, "It was a really neat experience." They sponsored a dance and had a candy sale in late January. They also held several Mexican Luncheons with the help of Tortilla Flats.

AFS began the year with the election of officers. Sarah Miller was elected president; Cathi Hageman, vice president; Andy Reigh, secretary; Beth Rosenberg, treasurer; and Abby Schmelz, historian. They sponsored a dance in the fall and organized a candy sale. They chaperoned students to the Holiday Folk Fair held annually in Milwaukee. Peggy Elsinger stated, "Every year I go it's more fun; I always enjoy the food."

The German Club, although fewer in number, also had a prosperous year. Election of officers took place early in the fall. Cindy Havens was elected president; Patty Scherwin, vice president; Jennifer Tower, secretary; and Danny Wang, treasurer. They went shopping in Milwaukee and had a German lunch at Mader's.

ADDICT GOES TO STATE

The drama department performed the one-act play, Addict. It was a thought provoking production about drug and alcohol abuse plaguing teenagers. It gave a message for them to examine their own use. Chris Hoeppner said, "For everyone concerned it was a hard play and had such an important message to portray. Many believed that they couldn't play the part of their character, but with hard work and determination, the play was a wonderful success." Kristen Schultz said, "I thought the actors and actresses did a terrific job. It gave me chills." Dana Worland, who received an acting award said, "Getting the award was a great thrill. Words can't express the way it felt. I was very honored." Penny Prellwitz, student director, said, "It was an excellent effort. For my last year, I'll never forget it."

Another affiliate of the Drama department was Sock-N-Buskin. It was very successful during Indianfest. It had a relaxed atmosphere, yet it was another way to show West High Pride. It was an organization for achievement in higher dramatics. Jenny Maclean, the president, said, "It was basically an all around party and a way to have fun."

Forenics awarded letters for higher participation for the first time. Mr. Tom Lynch said, "It was a rebuilding year with young and inexperienced kids. We've had success in terms of number of kids and awards. We enjoyed keeping that enthusiasm."

1. Sock N'Buskin members receive a friendly welcome from president Jenny Maclean and Jason Hall.
2. During a heated preformance of ADDICT Doug Gafner trys to buy drugs from Bernie Purdy.

4. Using her full dramatic capabilities, Jenny Richey acts out her role.
5. Katie Freund helps Michelle Reigert rehearse her Farrago piece.
6. Faith Niedfeldt and Kim Harvot show they don't mind the many hours spent trying to decide on a Forensics piece.

SALES! SALES! SALES! SALES!

The halls of West were once again plastered with safety posters from STUDENTS AGAINST DRUNK DRIVING cautioning us to "Stay alive, don't drink and drive"; but as a new project they worked with other schools and the community toward decreasing the number of people harmed by drunk driving. By distributing S.A.D.D. materials during Parent/Teacher Conferences, members helped promote family awareness of the problems caused by the abuse of alcohol and drugs.

Several students attended a conference to share their ideas with other S.A.D.D. clubs from throughout Wisconsin, meanwhile picking up suggestions for activities here. This was where they acquired the idea for their new sale — "Lifesavers to Save Lives" — which they conducted along with the usual candy sales and the sale of Oshkosh West window stickers. The S.A.D.D. group once again proved to be both productive and informative.

When students are asked, "What do Future Farmers of America do?" Most kids would reply by saying, "Well, Uh . . . They farm."

However, the F.F.A. does a whole lot more than that. Every year this organization contributes to the community with a variety of activities. F.F.A. sponsored three fruit sales, went to the Landscaping Horticulture Convention in Kansas City, had national soil and corn judging teams, and a basketball team that went on to win 28 consecutive victories. Senior Jay Jones replied, "F.F.A. has taught me a lot about agriculture and community service work. It was fun and educational."

O'NEIL MEMBERS, MEDIA AIDES GIVE SERVICE

The O'Neil Chapter of the National Honor Society consists of students carefully selected by a faculty committee. "Membership into O'Neil is the highest honor a student can receive during a high school career," according to advisor Mr. Lynne Koch.

O'Neil performed many community services, including a food drive, individual tutoring, and a talent program at Evergreen Manor. The food drive, which was a combined effort of O'Neil and F.F.A., had members carrying cans to collect money during lunch hour and teachers offering extra quiz points for a nominal donation. "I was surprised how stingy people were, even when it came down to spare pennies," said senior Cathi Hageman. The food drive did collect roughly $1,100, though.

Seniors proved their computational prowess at several math meets with Math Team members Kirsten Messer taking a second and third, Brandon Schreiber a fourth and fifth, and Ahmet Karagozoglu a fourth. The Math Team is one team that performs not athletically but academically. According to advisor, Mrs. Miriam McCann, "The Math Team gives students a chance to compete on an intellectual level and to meet strong mathematics students from other schools."

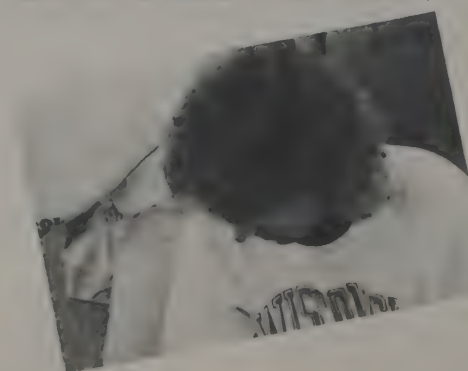

Media aides performed many useful services for the library, doing everything from filing books to checking up on wayward students and their overdue books. "It gave me something useful to do during my study periods, rather than sitting in another study hall," answered Kristi Hendrickson when asked how she decided to become an aide.

1. Quickly solving a geometry problem, Caren Stratz offers her solution to her fellow Math Team members. 2. Having sapped the funds of O'Neil's treasury, Gummy urges his team to a Homecoming win. 3. Nicole Flack loads canned goods into boxes for the O'Neil/F.F.A. food drive. Roughly $400 was collected in canned goods. 4. Office Aides John Hinz and Kevin Holm exchange an important message in the Main Office. 5. Shivering from the cold, Mary McMahon hopes it doesn't take much longer to build the O'Neil float. 6. Ahmet Karagozoglu seems puzzled over a problem given to him during a math meet. 7. Aide Jay Corpron delivers a message from Student Services.

ACADEMIC DECATHLETES COMPETE

The academic decathlon was a nation wide contest of academic knowledge. The national winner was determined by three rounds of testing. Rounds one and two were statewide competitions, while round three took place on the national level. The first round, which consisted of six tests, eliminated all but three schools. The academic team, under the tutelage of Dr. Jim Hutchinson, did not make it past the first round. First round contestants were tested in the areas of English, math, social studies, economics, science, and the fine arts. The top three schools then moved on to round two, which determined the statewide winner. The final school from each state then moved on to round three to determine the overall national winner.

After round one of testing, schools were notified whether or not they placed in the top three. After round two, the statewide winners were announced. Neither scored nor finishing places were released to schools not in the top three so that the event would not become too competitive.

Perhaps one of the most active clubs this year was H.E.R.O., or Home Economics Related Occupations. One service project in which H.E.R.O. participated was the baking of 150 pumpkin pies for a community Thanksgiving dinner. Also, along with Spanish Club, they planned, prepared, and served an authentic Spanish dinner for the faculty in February.

H.E.R.O. also took fieldtrips to Mercy Medical Center, the Radisson Hotel, Marcos, and to the Fox Valley Technical College Food Service Program.

PERSONALITY, ENTHUSIASM

The twenty-three girls in the pom pon squad did all their own choreography and taught all their own routines. Their favorite routines were to the songs "Oh Yeah" by Yello, "I Think We're alone Now" by Tiffany, and "Wild In The Streets" by Bon Jovi.

The qualities Miss Nejedlo, advisor, looked for in the girls were personality, enthusiasm, and coordination.

Kay Kusche said, "It's great but it's challenging. It takes a lot of hard teamwork. We all love showing what a good time we were having when we performed."

Dana Larsen said, "It's fun in the mud, but it takes a lot of work. You have to learn to cooperate with each other."

"It was a super experience!" concluded Ann Schwartz.

1. Bill Simon, Kristi Timm, Brian Olson, and Nicki Flack rap at the Homecoming pep rally. 2. Kristi Ashton, Jenny Freund, Chrissy Jische, watch the action on the field and wait for their halftime performance. 3. Tiffany Lynch sees her hard work pay off as she performs "Oh, Yeah" by Yello. 4. Terri Lemieux moves to the rhythm of "U Got the Look" by Prince. 5. Liz Lueck concentrates on her routine "Hazy Shades of Winter" by the Bangles. 6. The Pom Pon squad moves into their formation to the beat of "No More Words" as they entertain the Homecoming football fans. 7. Shawn Sorenson lifts an uncertain knee as she, Patty Schwerin, Ann Schwartz, and Tammi Bochinski move into the can-can line in the Indianfast routine. 8. The squad shows how practice makes perfect as they synchronize their moves on the field.

INDEX IS . . .

"This year, we've changed our philosophy. We are run more like a corporation. Index is looking up and, with hard work, we'll get better with each issue," said Ryan Bittner, business advisor, about the changes Index faced this year. They covered Intramurals and more non-team sports. There was also a new music section. The Index worked hard to cover every field and aspect of West High life.

Mike Segreto, freshman, described the experience as "fun and enjoyable" and said, "I have met people and had a good time. I like to write articles and help out. It is fun to write your own paper." The nonchalant, laid back attitude of the Staff caused less attention and anger between members. They combined an understanding of the news, an easy going attitude, and hard work to produce the monthly newspaper.

To deliver these papers, the Index Distribution met in the charge of Mrs. Harriet Martin. They were a hard working group of students whose job was to get the first count before third hour, deliver them, and then fold, and wrap the papers for mailing. This program taught the students about cooperation, and assembly line work. It also helped them get to know the building and broaden their vocational experience.

1. Todd Farber and Troy Andrashko paste up the paper. 2. Ms. Condon instructs Beth Segreto on a layout format. 3. Paul Alaniz works with Ms. Condon on an article. 4. Mike Kroll measures a headline. 5. Ryan Bittner decides which picture to put in the newspaper. 6. Index covers a wide variety of news and events. 7. NOTEBOOK — A VERY SPECIAL PLACE

NOTEBOOK was a very special place to its staff members. They worked harder this year because of the 'flip side' theme, which required extra color and extra planning.

Editors-in chief, Jody Patrie and Dee Dee Siekierke, started to work on this year's theme in July, when they attended a week-long journalism workshop at U.W. Eau Claire. After many hours of hard work, they came up with the "88 Flip Side" theme. "We decided that it would be cool to flip the book half-way through so that it ended in the middle," stated senior Dee Dee Siekierke.

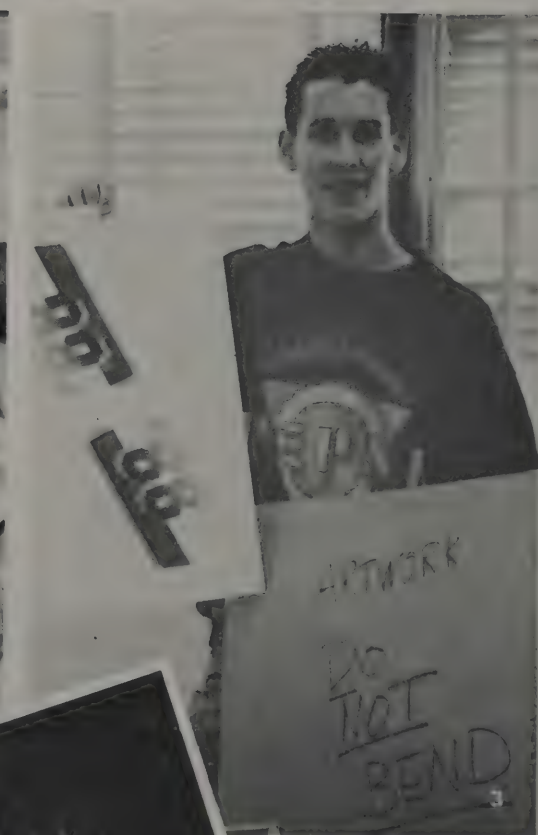

Despite the chaotic atmosphere of deadline nights, they were admittedly enjoyable. If one did not drop from exhaustion of trips between the darkroom and the NOTEBOOK office, they were considered lucky.

"Being down in the darkroom for five or six hours straight doesn't really sound a lot of fun, but if you throw in a boom box and a few friends, everything is okay," stated senior Marc Pennau. Two boom boxes blared next to Tim Chiang all of the hours he spent with his nose in the computer. But the senior Editor-in-Chief rarely complained. He spent hours learning the new Comtran program and teaching it to the others. This program automatically fit copy and indexed names.

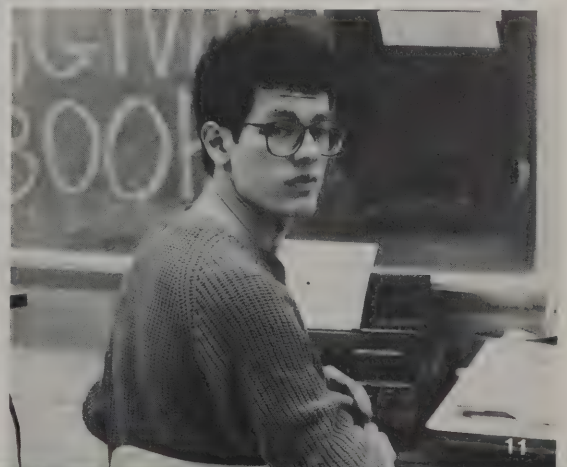

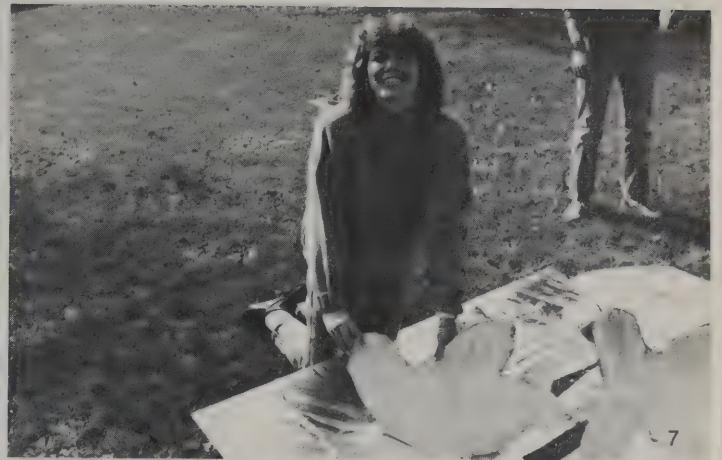

And who could forget . . .

. . . trying to do my layout in the darkroom when the lights were out . . . cartwheels in the hall . . . birthday cakes every week . . . the darkroom stench . . . Eau Claire . . . Mr. Hare . . . the dummy hanging from the rafters . . . endless flow charts . . . "overprint or reverse at company discretion . . ." 00979 . . . Ya, but can it be flipped?" . . . seniors only on the couch . . .

1. NOTEBOOK staff members goof around in the darkroom during training week. 2. Heidi Holdren is coquettishly camera-shy. 3. Senior Photo Editor Marc Pennau, holds up the NOTEBOOK cover that he designed with his airbrush set. 4. Seniors Kim Kolodzik and Mary Bender take time out in the darkroom. The darkroom is located in S-15. 5. Jenny Olk is surprised when she first sees her class pictures. 6. Amy Krueger puts on her tough-guy jean jacket and relaxes. 7. Carla Schneider works on the NOTEBOOK courtyard display. The courtyard won 2nd place. 8. Freshman Gary Nitz anticipates the name game on the second day of school. 9. The courtyard is completed and the assembling crew rejoices as they embrace the unforgettable dummy. 10. Carla Baier and Jody Patrie snuggle up on a cold deadline night. 11. Student teacher Kevan Klatwitter is caught off-guard typing his NOTEBOOK story.

A YEAR OF TURMOIL

1. In the six years since Americans first heard of a mysterious immunity-robbing disease from which no one recovers, AIDS has killed nearly 25,000 Americans, millions of dollars have poured into medical research. President Reagan has proclaimed the plague "Public Health Enemy No. 1."

2. An earthquake that measured 6.1 on the Richter scale hit Southern California in October.

3. Fred Astaire, who epitomized Hollywood's elegance for 25 years, died of pneumonia in June at the age of 88.

4. Liberace, the glittering showman and pianist who captivated fans, died quietly at his home in February at the age of 67.

5. Lee Marvin, the gravel voiced Oscar winner died in August at the age of 63.

6. Jackie Gleason, who got laughs in the television series "The Honeymooners", died in June at the age 71.

A YEAR OF SCANDALS

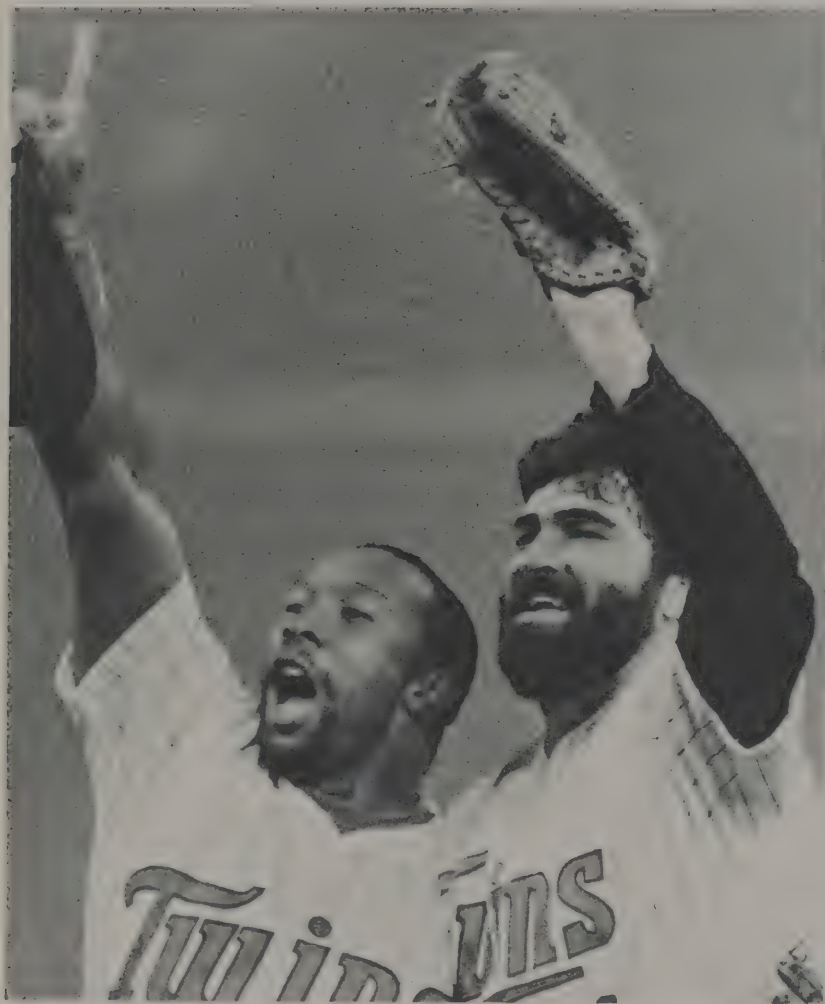

1. Marine Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, was a key official in the plan to finance anti-government rebels in Nicaragua with money from arms sales to Iran. In testimony before the Iran-Contra hearings in Washington, North became somewhat of a celebrity.

2. Television evangelists Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker said farewell to the PTL ministry in March. Jim Bakker resigned after confessing to a sexual encounter with a young woman. Tammy Bakker bowed out of the broadcasts to undergo treatment for drug dependency.

3-4. Democratic presidential candidate Gary Hart was forced to drop his bid for the presidency after it was reported that he was romantically involved with Donna Rice, a 29-year-old aspiring actress and model from Miami.

A YEAR OF ENTERTAINMENT

Kirby Puckett and Jeff Raedon of the Minnesota Twins celebrate their World Series victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Twins won the seventh and final game of the series 4-2.

TOP: Superstar Whitney Houston performs at New York's Madison Square Garden in September. It was her first New York appearance since 1985.

BOTTOM: Entertainer Billy Joel performs in Moscow. The piano man played for a sold-out crowd at the Olympic Stadium.

A 24-day strike by the NFL players ended in mid-October when the union capitulated and went to court instead of trying to fight the club owners at the bargaining table.

CURRENT EVENTS OF 1987

The Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco celebrated its 50th birthday. About 250,000 people jammed onto the bridge for an anniversary walk across the span. Another 500,000 packed the bridge approaches but were denied access because the engineers feared the span could not support the weight.

A barge filled with 3,128 tons of garbage became a national joke. The barge, looking for a place to dump its cargo, was banned by six states and three foreign countries before an incinerator reduced it to ash.

What do you flip over romantically? Juniors expressed their opinion openly with romance on their mind.

Brad Schoenfeldt - Running and chasing an outstanding rembrandt to the Mona Lisa through a snowbank while in the nude with a wind chill well over 50 below. Then jumping into a hot tub, while eating pizza and checking for frost bite.

Anonymous - Little things; a rose, kiss on the forehead, a telephone call saying good-night.

Chris Newell - Star Trek Reruns.

Rick Grable - Being up in my cabin with a fire in the fireplace on a snowy night.

Jeff Ulrich - Anything (female species; not necessarily human).

Kyiel Kovach - When a girl takes charge and does just about everything on the date or whatever we are doing.

Roxee Malnory - Being alone with the one you love and doing what you both enjoy.

The Board of Education, at their regular meeting of September 23, 1987, adopted a resolution which will ban smoking in the Oshkosh Area schools effective August 24, 1988.

Students' opinions vary on this subject:

Will Vogt: "I think the closing of the smoking section is rotten because you're taking away our open campus and our lunch hour, plus you change our requirements in mid-year. If you take away another, bring some of the old ones back."

Anonymous: "Close it, because I don't think the school system should say smoking is okay."

Cheri Sonnleitner: "I'm against it closing. It's not afflicting any harm on the students who do not wish to use it."

Tammy Greer: "The teachers can smoke in school. You can't close it or you are going to have a lot of kids upset. More skipping will take place."

Bob Kujawa: "I think it is a healthy situation: it may create a problem for those who choose to smoke. They may go to other places displeasing people in the community."

The class of '89 was the first group in which the required health class went into effect. This was because of a state law requiring a health class at the high school level.

Health was taught by Mr. Tony Gerhartz, who applied for the position after several years of subbing. The class met opposite gym days. "I think it would be a lot better if it was only a semester instead of a whole year," commented Mike Moon.

A variety of subjects were covered in the newly formed class. The widespread AIDS crisis was one of the many topics studied. Many students felt that this was the best thing that came out of the class. "It made me more aware of the diseases," said Beckie Daubert.

The overall reaction of the students about the class as a whole was not a positive one. Many reasons were given for their disapproval. "It just repeats the middle school health class," said Carrie Wallace. Kevin Miller felt "other classes, like biology, covered the same material."

Once a driver's license is acquired, cars can become a necessity (like air or water), or at least a burning desire. When sophomores were asked what they considered to be their perfect "dream car", replies varied. Colleen Wolff: "A '69 Camaro with a great paint job and an excellent interior and, of course, my boyfriend and I in it."

Tyler Timm: "A black Porsche 944."

John Hergert: "Either a Corvette Stingray or a Ferrari Testarossa."

Scott Lemiesz: "One that runs and has its insurance paid."

David Poellinger: "A blue Camaro Iroc Z28 with tinted windows and silver pin-stripes."

Jay Hessenius: "One with wheels!"

Jason Nessman: "A 1967 Ford Shelby AC 427 Cobra Jet with an overhead cam, V-8, fuel injection, anti-lock brakes, Quad turbochargers, titanium cylinder sleeves and pistons, and plexiglass windows."

Anonymous: "Mr. Holiday's Toyota truck."

Even though most sophomores could only dream of owning their own cars, they still have standards and label some cars as "heaps" . . .

Jason Hall: "I think the biggest heap is the VW Bug. They are so ugly and they hardly move. When you start them up, they sound like tanks."

Jeff Phillips: "Jason Nessman's Dodge Comet."

Barb Bender: "A '63 Nova that looks like it's been hit by a semi, but it still runs."

Mollie Hannan: "An old Buick with its doors falling off."

Many sophomores flipped over CD's (compact discs) and in turn gave up their records and tapes. According to Eric Baier "CD's have excellent audio quality." Mike McCain claimed "CD's are twice as good."

If you were thinking about buying a CD or a disc player there were many styles available. They came in rock, jazz, country, new age, and classical. Discs for the most part were indestructable, but there was a cleaning process to follow to keep discs in top condition. This cleaning process costs about ten dollars. The only disadvantages to discs were their cost ($7.99-$24.99) and the fact that some older records like Jimi Hendrix and Styx were not available.

As for players there were four types; single disc, auto disc, multi disc, and portable. In the single disc, the more popular system, according to the Exclusive Co., was a Kenwood that sold for $179 but had all the features of a $500 system. For the auto disc there was the Alpine, which was very basic. This system would range in price from $500-$900. The Teac was a very popular brand for the multiple disc players. Soon Kenwood would be releasing a similar system. Finally, for the portable, there was a very versatile system for $399. It was a headset that could be hooked up to a home stereo or a car with simple adaptors.

CD's became more popular and were a good investment. "They last longer than tapes and records," added Kevin Pennau.

All students had their own vision of the perfect girlfriend (Christie Brinkley) or perfect boyfriend (Rob Lowe). However, according to their homeroom surveys, some sophomores looked for qualities that weren't just skin-deep . . .

Jason Nessman: "She must stand behind what she believes and care about people."

Shoua Hang: "I usually judge by personality, such as if he's very nice and not prejudiced."

Jason Last: "She must be really romantic (but also like to have just plain fun), have beautiful eyes, soft hair, and give warm hugs, and she must dress stylishly."

Jamie Bernico: "He must like me for what I am."

Heather Saunders: "It doesn't matter what's on the outside, but what's on the inside-trust, understanding, and sharing the rough times."

Dan Steinhilber: "She must be unselfish, honest, fairly intelligent, have a great sense of humor, and like many different kinds of music."

Stacey Peterson: "My ideal boyfriend would be someone spunky, full of pep! He would also have to be considerate and have great eyes."

Jenny MacLean: "He would have to like good music (the Beatles, Simon and Garfunkel, the Doors) but he can't pretend it's his life. He shouldn't think he's superior just because he's a guy, and he can't expect me to cater to him."

What's the hardest thing about being a Freshman? Mrs. Wesenberg's fourth hour class answered this simple question.

Matt Spindler- "taking all the junk they give to us when we are out for a team sport with upper classmen. We have to pick up everything, sit in the front of the bus, and work to be accepted by the upper classmen."

Kay Kusche- "Of course, getting picked on. I'd like the juniors and seniors to remember that they were freshmen, too once. But then again, Just wait till I'm a junior or senior, those freshman will wish they were never born. I can't wait."

Chris (Juan) Valdez- "is being cooler than the upper classmen."

Paul Skoglund- "I think the hardest part about being a freshman is being considered a little geek. Whenever you walk by an upper classman, they always yell 'Freshman!'. It's like, they were freshmen too. By the look of some of them, they were freshmen more than once. I'm willing to bet that they got picked on, too. I think it's because they're not mature. I mean, when is the last time you saw a freshman yelling 'Senior!'."

Scott Hawley- "all the tall seniors and" juniors who come up to you and yell, 'Freshman!'. After doing that, they shout at the top of their lungs, 'bubbler ride, bubbler ride!' And they set you on the bubbler, I know, I got it twice."

It was November 9, 3:15 p.m. A freshman was just leaving the E-wing. After taking three steps, he noticed someone running at him carrying a 9mm UZI submachine gun. He quickly began to run away, while at the same time he reached inside his coat, drawing his own gun. The attacker fired a shot and missed. The freshman turned the corner and jumped the bike rack. As his assailant rounded the corner, he popped up and aimed the .45 caliber pistol. Before the other could react, the freshman squeezed off a shot which hit his enemy in the chest. With his heart racing and adrenaline pumping, he could feel the blood coarsing through his veins. He could hear the beating of his own heart as he cautiously approached the body. He looked down. It was another freshman. He breathed a sigh of relief and walked away, realizing that he had saved his own life and killed his assassin. He couldn't help wondering if he would be so lucky the next time.

Sound like something from a spy novel? It's actually a common occurance. At least for the students involved in T.A.G.-The Assassination Game. The first game of the year (started in October) was organized by Tom Skoglund, and drew over 75 participants. By the first week of November, only 60 players remained alive.

There was no time limit on the game; it just went on until only one person was left surviving.

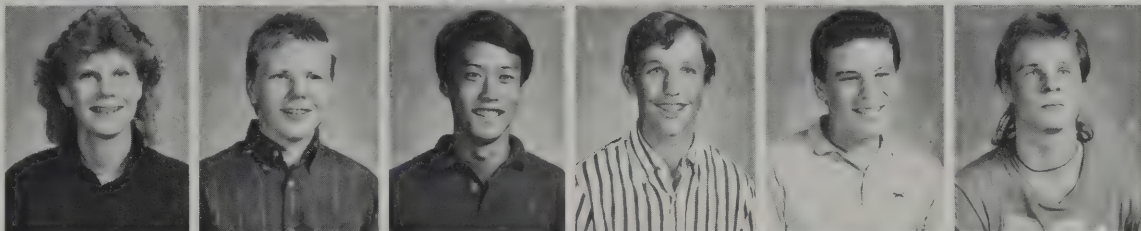

The game was simple. Each person needed to purchase a dart gun or a similar non-harmful weapon. Then he was assigned a target. If a player killed his target, he took the dead person's target as his new assignment. Throughout the entire game, each person had a target and an assassin. The sole survivor was the winner. there were only two rules. There was no shooting from 8:00 to 3:05 or at anytime inside the school building. shooting was also prohibited while the target was at work or at church. Other than that, shooting was unlimited. Assassinations occured anyplace at any time.

Did you ever wonder what your teachers did outside of school? Were they involved in other projects besides writing up assignments and grading papers. Yes, they were.

Marilyn Rogge, who taught English, also entertained professionally with her husband. Their duo was called "Musically Yours." Her husband, John sang while she played the piano. Rogge enjoyed playing all kinds of different music. When performing, the duo's selections ranged from Medieval Banquets to cocktail music to a German Program, which was known as "Hans & Schatz."

James Zitzelsberger, media specialist, also worked at WMGV/WOSH in his free time. He broadcasts news, sports, and weather information. He said he enjoyed the instant feed-back from his listeners. Zitzelsberger said he liked to work with the radio because it gave him a chance to "hide out!"

Some other faculty members were also involved in outside activities. John Porior owned and worked in his own flower shop. Bill Brabender made and sold artwork designed by him. Boyd Gibbs enjoyed using his photography skills. Jim Buehner took time out of his schedule to spend time with his children, Jamie and Ted, and their horses. Larry Klausch produced and directed various musical shows at the Grand Opera House. Edward Anderson and Donald Sween worked together to make wood-working projects for other people.

BEHIND THE SCENES: THE UNSUNG HERO

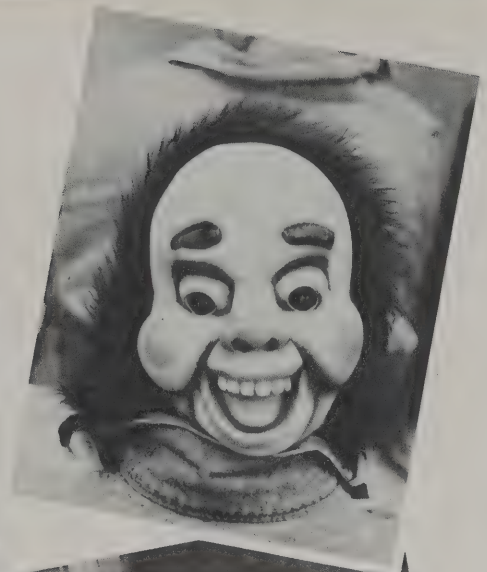

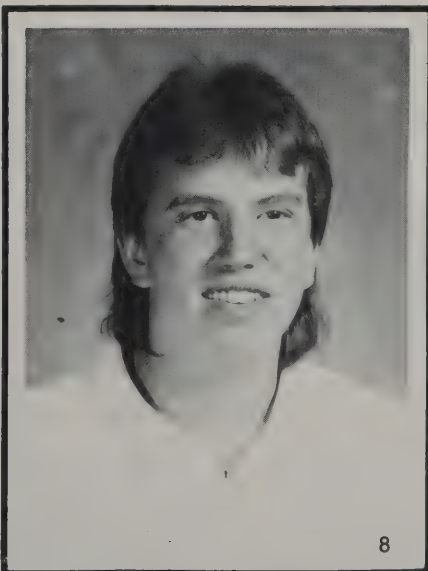

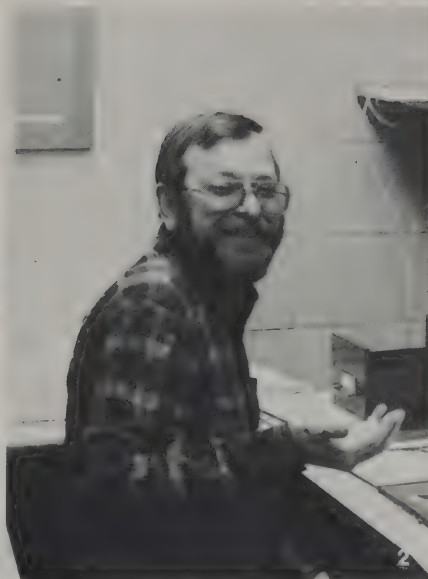

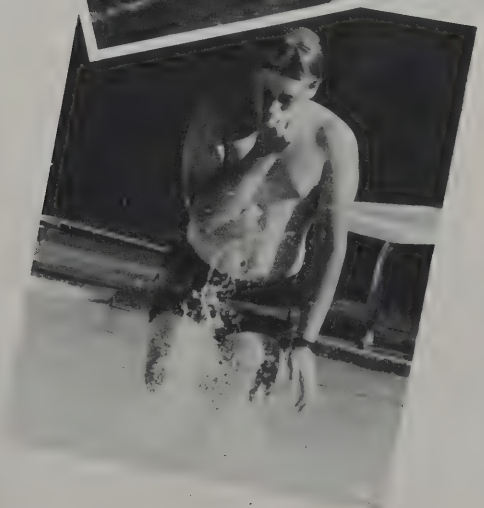

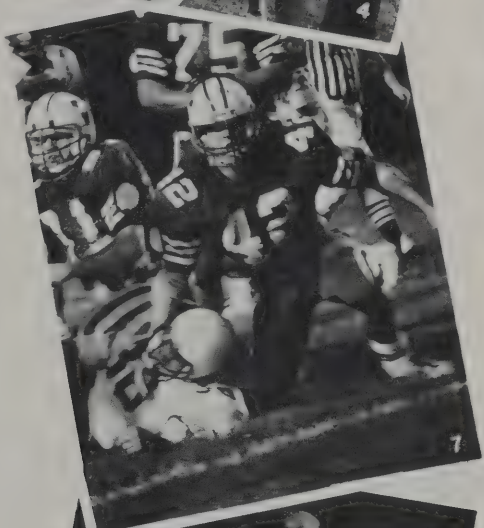

Not many people were familiar with the name Bob Baier, which was surprising because it's usually hard to keep such a good thing quiet. Coach Baier was the man behind the muscles of our student body (no pun intended). Every day after school, he volunteered his free time to come to the varsity weight room where he shared his time, sense of humor, and experience with the athletes. Coach Baier enjoyed the time he spends with the group saying, "It's really gratifying. I get to meet a nice class of kids." There's no doubt that they appreciated his time, too.

Mr. Baier began coming to the weight room because his oldest son, a sophomore at the time, was on the powerlifting team. The kids on the team didn't know much about what they were doing, so he agreed to come in and help for a couple of weeks. That was six years ago. Baier, an advocate of weightlifting for twenty years, encourages weight training for everyone, saying that all involved can benefit.

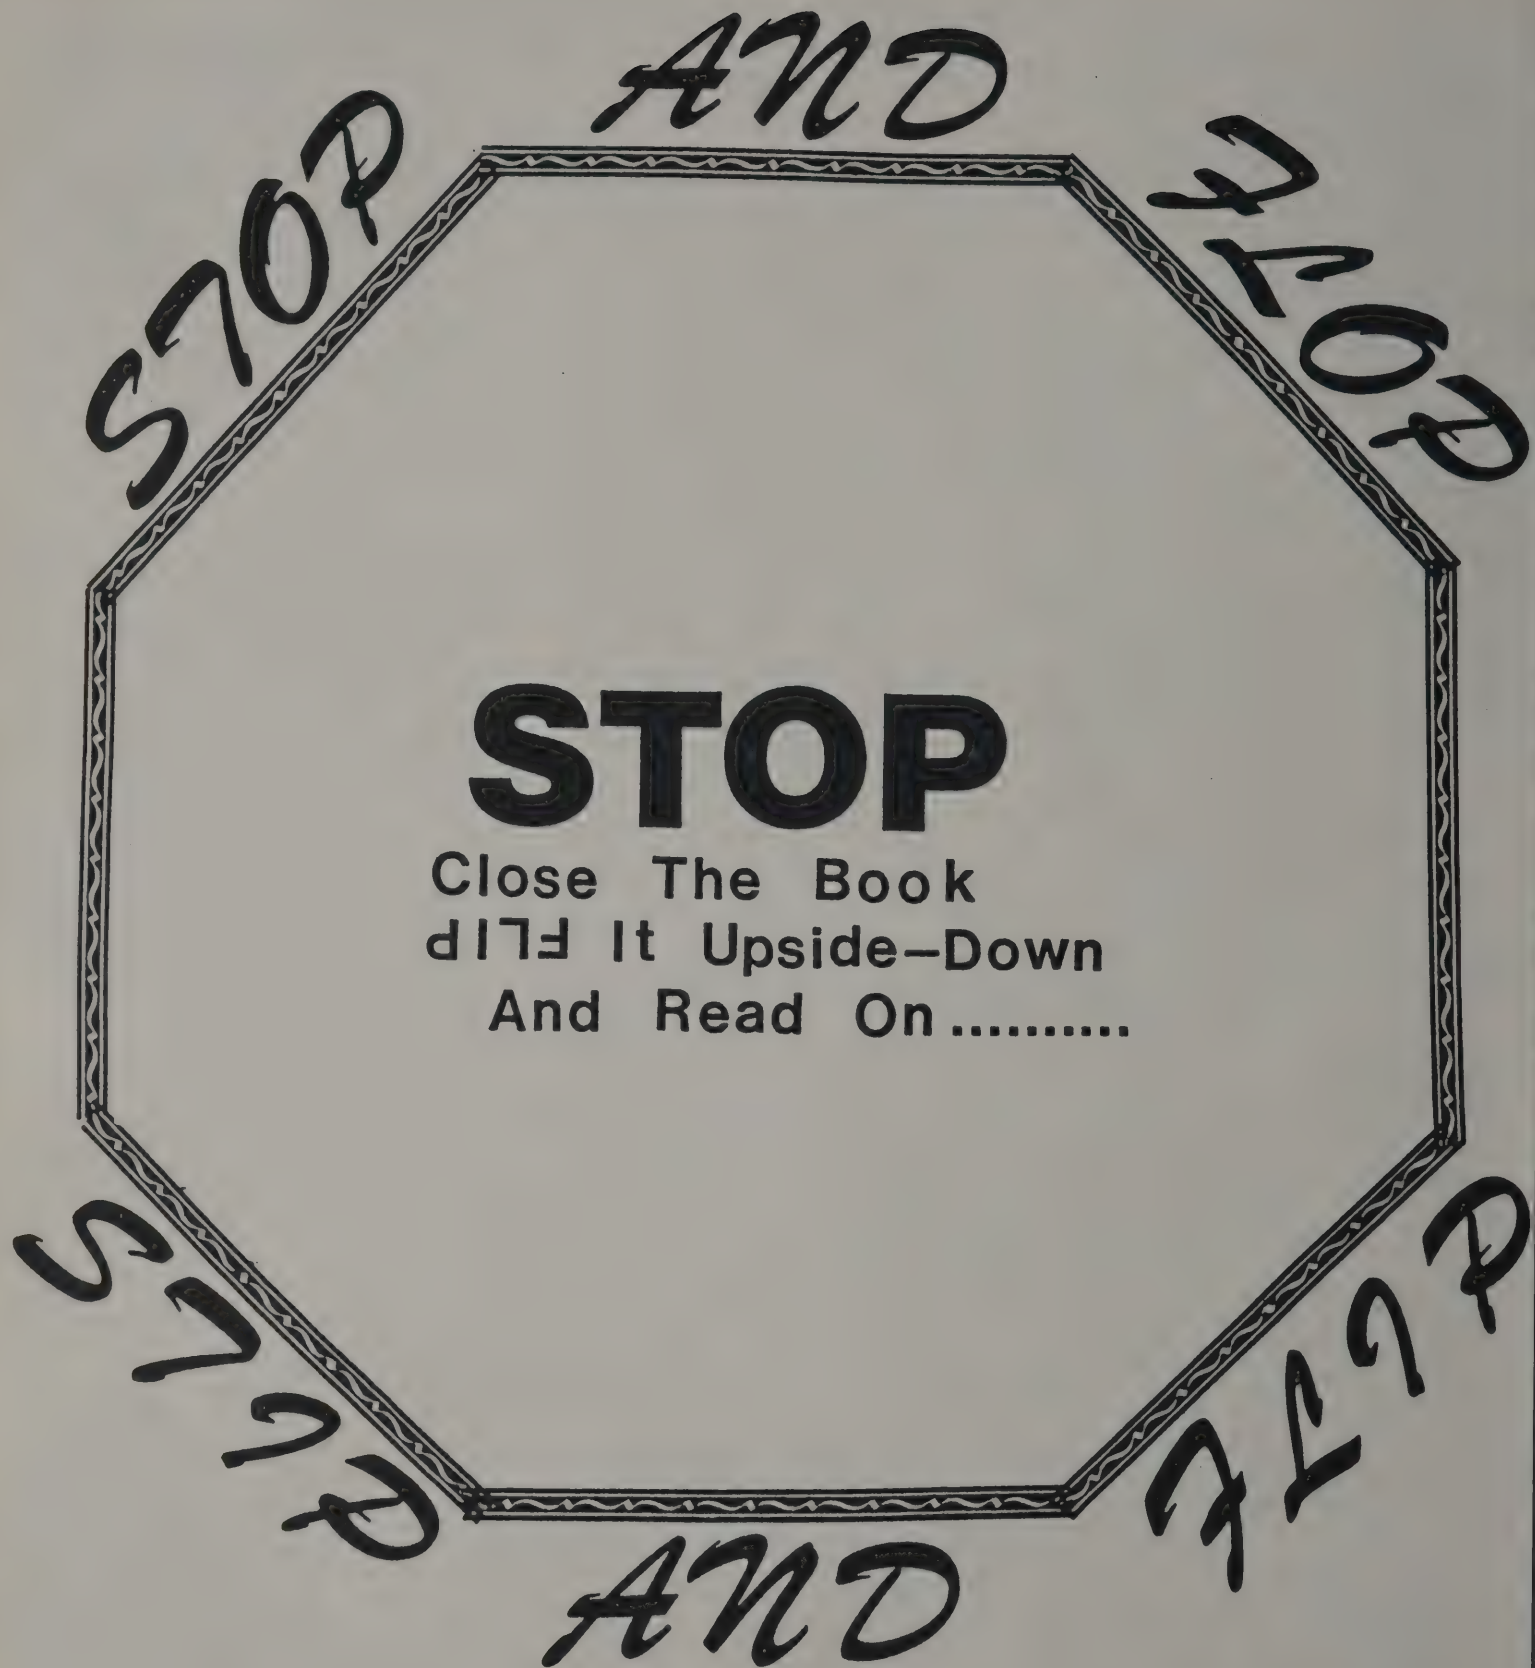

Encouraging him on, coach Baier spots Jeff Roe, as he pumps off his last few reps.

4. Julie Nozar and Kris Wagner enjoy the great weather during Easter break.
5. Wendi Nelson and Jessica Maynard fire up at a football game.
6. Kris Kohnke waits for the bell to ring.
7. Jay Jones and Shane Lett capture the enemy.
8. Junior Brad Schoenfeldt died January 23, 1988. He will be missed by his friends.
9. Senior Kevin Holm relaxes in the weight-room.
10. Eric Baier gets ready for the plunge.

THE DIFF SIDE

WHAT DO YOU FLIP FOR?

In today's typical high school, most students are expected to excel in fields such as academics and being role model students. Teens take on the rigors of classroom paranoia and study hall boredom every day. However, there comes a time when students need a break from all the pressure. They need some time to do some flippin around. If asked "What do you flip for", what would your reply be?

1. Kris Kolodzik shows us that she flips for swatches. 2. Many students like Dave Blust and Amy Leiby flip for each other. 3. A lot of people like running, but Kim Last totally flips over it. 4. Katie Lira flips for her favorite food, pizza. 5. When people get mad they flip their lid. Al Hruska demonstrates this concept.

For one, there is the ever famous "flipping for love". Boy meets girl or girl meets boy. Many times love begins at first sight, when two people flip for each other. It's not uncommon to see girls "staring" at male hunks in the hallways or guys scanning the area in front of them for awesome looking girls.

Flipped food is also a thing that students crave. Fast food like pizza, taco's, hamburgers, and chicken nuggets are some examples. Fast food restaurants like Hardee's, Rocky's, and McDonald's are only a hop, skip, and jump away so getting a quick bite is always easy.

Love and food aren't the most important things in life-just the most flipped for.

WHITESNAKE

The Concert Experience

Going to a concert is a major event for almost anyone; it takes planning and money. The first step is the ticket. You always have to buy a ticket well in advance — usually one or two months ahead of time — for fear of their selling out. If it's a popular concert, like Whitesnake, you must buy a ticket even earlier. Last season, a Bon Jovi concert sold out in about 3 hours. The trick is to be ready. Getting a subscription to Rolling Stone and listening to 106 (WAPL) can really help.

Next you have to make sure that you have cars and people willing to drive them. Then there's deciding who gets food and refreshments. At theatres, like Alpine Valley (the best location to see a concert in Wisconsin) it is a tradition to get there early in the afternoon to have a cook-out and basically a giant party with about 25,000 of your newest friends.

Once you get in (1 1/2 hours before the show) you try to find a comfortable spot and relax. Somewhere between getting inside and sitting down, you have to buy a t-shirt, just to prove you were there. One of the usual discomforts of a concert is the crowding and the pushing. No such thing at Alpine. It's set up on a hill with the stage at the bottom so everyone can see. Alpine has an amphitheatre shell and the acoustics are perfect.

When the band begins playing, especially a good band, your excitement peaks and you get totally carried away. A truly awesome experience. If the band has great lighting and neat effects, like Motley Crüe, it only increases your enjoyment more.

People who criticize rock concerts obviously have never been to an Alpine Concert. It has to be experienced — the ringing of the ears, the traffic jams, and the big crowds.

OUT FLIPPING IN OSHKOSH

FLIPPIN' FOR FUN

Flipping wasn't something just to be done at school in gymnastics. It could be done anywhere. When school let out, students flipped-out. They did whatever they wanted — to have fun.

The question was where to flip out in Oshkosh. Some places became popular, crowded with flipped-out students. Taking a look around Oshkosh, flipped students hung out at Rocky Rococo's, Burger King, Park Plaza, and, of course, PARTIES. Where ever students were, flipped-out was the only way to be!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

1. Jennifer Peppler flops out on a teeter totter in Menominee Park.
2. During noon hour, Craig Reinke and Jeff Koerner eat at Taco Bell.
3. On a dull Friday night, pool sounds good to Sean Gruenwald.
4. Lori Spanbauer and Michelle O'Neill check out the songs on a CD at the Exclusive Company's new Compact Disc Store.
5. Sarah Bloom and Kristen Berg rent a movie from Video Visions.
6. Relaxing on the South Park bridge, blowing bubbles, is Jody Patrie.
7. Jim Bremer and Lisa Bartelt browse through the songs on the latest record.
8. Scott Becker illustrates an afternoon bike ride.
9. Big Boy's Sharon Radermacher peeks around the corner for a customer.
10. Football players choose Rocky's after a hard game.

Fashions Fade, Maintain, and Change

1. There's something special about real gold, and Michelle Geuths seems to think "the more the better." 2. Senior John Kellerman and Sophomore Sonya Berge show that being dressed up is definitely part of being cool. 3. Freshman Heather Schaeffer models dark cropped pants and a long-sleeve casual shirt — a perfect match. Flats complete the look.

Constantly Flipping, Flipping, Flipping

1. Senior Brian Olson is very comfortable in baggy acid-washed jeans and a cozy sweater — perfect for fall and winter. 2. Cathy Mains, junior, and Kevin Pennau, sophomore, show that blue jeans (or white jeans) will always be around to wear with anything. Kevin's PEPSI sweatshirt, and Cathy's railroad striped shirt are just two options. 3. Pumps, slingbacks, and lace-ups are this year's favorite shoes. Flats, boots, and Reeboks are still around.

FLIP

FLIRTY FASHIONS

In the wonderful world of West fashion, many new styles popped up. Traditional styles remained traditional, and outdated looks dropped from the scene entirely.

Shown here are seniors Shawn Kelly and Janey Crha. Shawn attempts (and succeeds) in looking studly by sporting tight, gray Levi's and an inside-out shirt. Boat shoes are still the rage for men.

Janey is wearing a brilliant scarlet dress with no waist, which is tastefully complemented with a zippy scarf. Her plain black shoes and hosiery make a model's statement. Janey brings her outfit full circle by carrying a single red rose. Timelessly Romantic.

Ah yes, even underclassmen were dressing with the times. They were very aware of fashion no-no's and stayed away from flouncy skirts and pale, sugary pastels.

Shown here modeling some of the more appropriate codes of dress are freshman Rob Davies and Tracy Goheen.

Rob looks absolutely dashing in navy with just a touch of pink. His pleated pants complement the patterned sweater well. His smile is the best part.

Tracy is showing off the comfortable aspect of fashion with the ever-popular acid washed jeans, big sweatshirt, and laceless white tennies. Notice the Swatch.

Back in black. Or at least partly. The color black is coming back stronger than ever. While it could be worn with only minimal accessories, it could also be dressed up. Two perfect examples of the tasteful ways to wear black are Amy Hartman and Bob Kujawa, both juniors.

Amy is wearing an outfit by Benetton—a simple, elegant black turtleneck topped with a collared jacket of a different material and a matching skirt. Opaque black nylons, black flats and simple gold jewelry complement the look.

Bob looks like the proverbial “big man on campus” in his favorite cozy cardigan and comfortable gray slacks. The burgundy tie is his only accessory—simply perfect.

Some fashion statements never die; they never even get old. They just go on and on.

Sophomores are no exception to the fashion facts. They know right from wrong. Matching and coordinating colors is no problem for them.

Here, showing us their expertise are sophomores Scott Day and Brandi Whitney.

Scott has skillfully brought out the turquoise in his sweater by wearing a patterned shirt of the same color underneath. The plain black pants and polished shoes are a definite plus.

Brandi looks like a peaceful cloud, floating through the sky on a sunny day. Her rayon jumpsuit is simple, yet complicated. She complements the outfit with low-slung pumps.

SPORTS

Kaukauna, North, Crucial Games of Season

Some might be disappointed with following a winning season with a losing one, but varsity football coach Chuck Grable was more than satisfied with the 4-5 overall season. He said, "We chased a dream all year. We had the opportunity to go to State until the last two games of the season. The team gave 100% effort and I couldn't ask for more than that."

A high and low point of the season was the Kaukauna game. Winning wasn't everything. Jeff Roe, senior, said, "A lot of us were upset about the way we were treated by Kaukauna, so we were pumped up to play. A lot of times you have that feeling that makes you want to play a little bit harder."

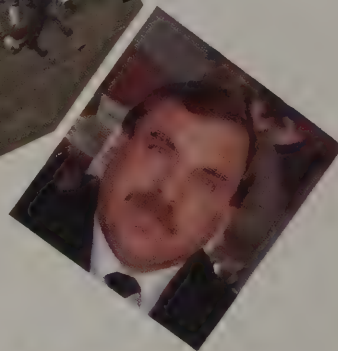

Another crucial game they wanted to play a little bit harder was the North game. As captain Jay Jones stated, "Naturally, you get fired up for North." But it was not to be. North's 21-14 victory smashed West's dream of the WIAA playoffs.

The high points, to most team members, were the victory over Menasha at the Homecoming game, beating Kaukauna with twenty seconds on the clock, and the overall friendships that formed.

Most Valuable Player awards went to Jay Pica, offense, and Jay Jones, defense. Dan Dederling was awarded the Hartman Lineman award.

A great source of inspiration to the team was an injury afflicted to junior defensive end, Kevin Ronson. He was knocked down during a home game against Kaukauna, and as a result, suffered a crushed sixth vertebrae. Junior, Jay Pica said, "We really didn't know what happened to Kevin. He was just lying there, and we all felt so helpless."

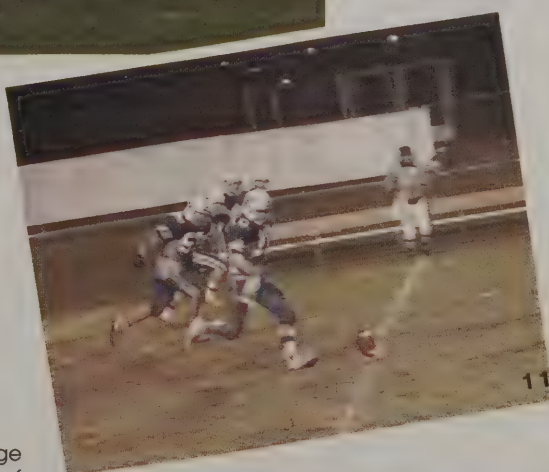

Grable said, "Kevin's injury is something very difficult to live with. The exchange of support between Kevin's family and the coaching staff has really made a difference. Kevin keeps smiling while flat on his back. He sure inspired me."

"We

Ronson's Attitude Influences Team Spirit

1. Dan Dederling and Brian Kluge defend Oshkosh West's line of scrimmage. 2. Oshkosh West takes Menasha for a ride as Rick Panske and Shane Lett Look on. 3. Rick Grable runs the ball for the Indians to gain extra yardage. 4. Chet Wesenberg waits for the snap. 5. Oshkosh West's defense waits for the snap. 6. Oshkosh West players take down Menasha in a tough tackle.

7. Dan Dederling and Menasha player fight over ball as they tumble to the ground. 8. The Bluejays' defense was hard to penetrate, as Jay Pica and Jeff Roe noticed. 9. Jay Pica rejoices after scoring a touchdown. 10. Jay Jones blocks Menasha. 11. Rick Grable kicks the ball to be retrieved by North. 12. Rick Grable scrimmages downfield for extra yardage. 13. Andy Poeschl runs the ball down field.

DEDICATED JV FOOTBALL TEAM TAKES SECOND

The j.v. football team's record at the end of the season was 4-5 with a conference record of 4-3, putting them in second place.

Jerry Hunter, Jay Hessenius, and Shane Mainory all felt that the game against Neenah, with a score of 15-12, was the best game of the season. During the season twelve players did not miss a practice or a game which showed the dedication the players had for the team.

The freshman football team did very well this year. They won 5 out of 7 games. Coach Wollerman said, "This team was the most enjoyable to coach in the past several years."

"The best game of the season was the 32-6 victory over Neenah. We played with intensity and worked as a team," said freshman Eric Hunter.

"We played with intensity"

1. Jerry Hunter looks for alternative to Kaukauna player's tackle. 2. West players attentively stand at sidelines, waiting for a breakthrough to determine the game. 3. Judd Hammen puts forth fantastic effort to receive the ball. 4. Scott Trinrud scans options for pass over Menasha defender. 5. West players prepare for snap at Kaukauna game. 6. Players huddle by sideline awaiting instructions for game. 7. Dave Jarapko avoids Kaukauna defender and scrimmages downfield. 8. West player executes mean tackle against the opposition. 9. Jim Kutscher prepares to take down Kaukauna player in the final quarter.

SUCCESS LARGELY DUE TO

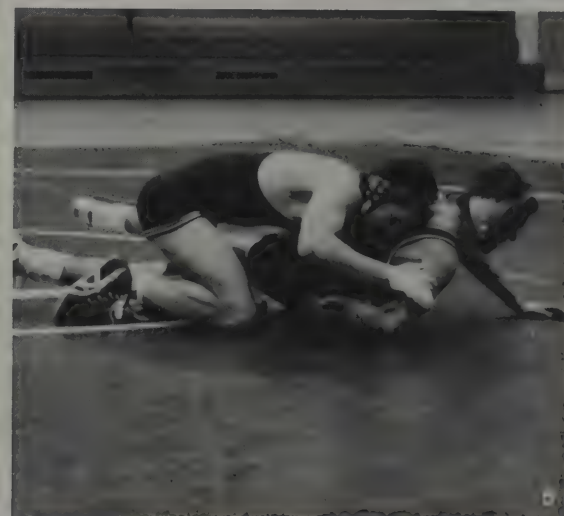

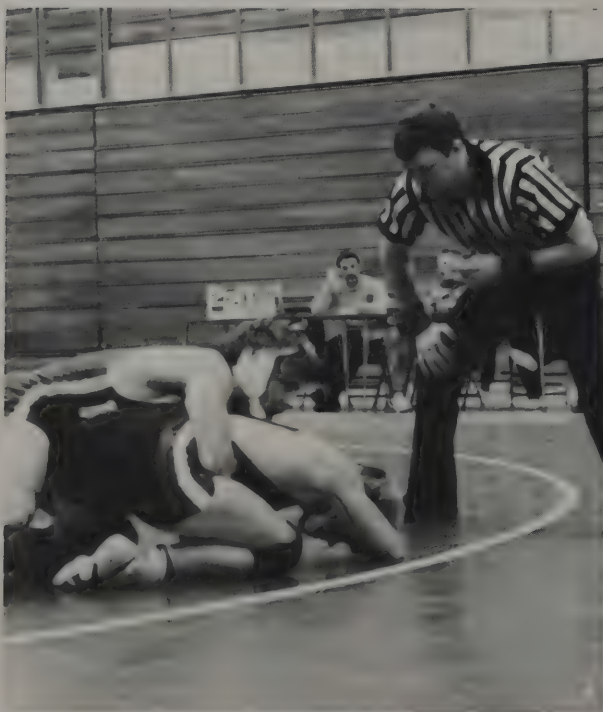

"They showed class and never lost control"

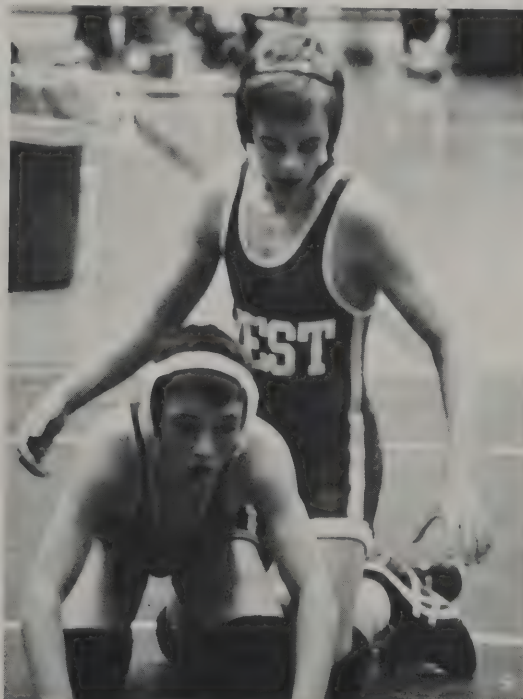

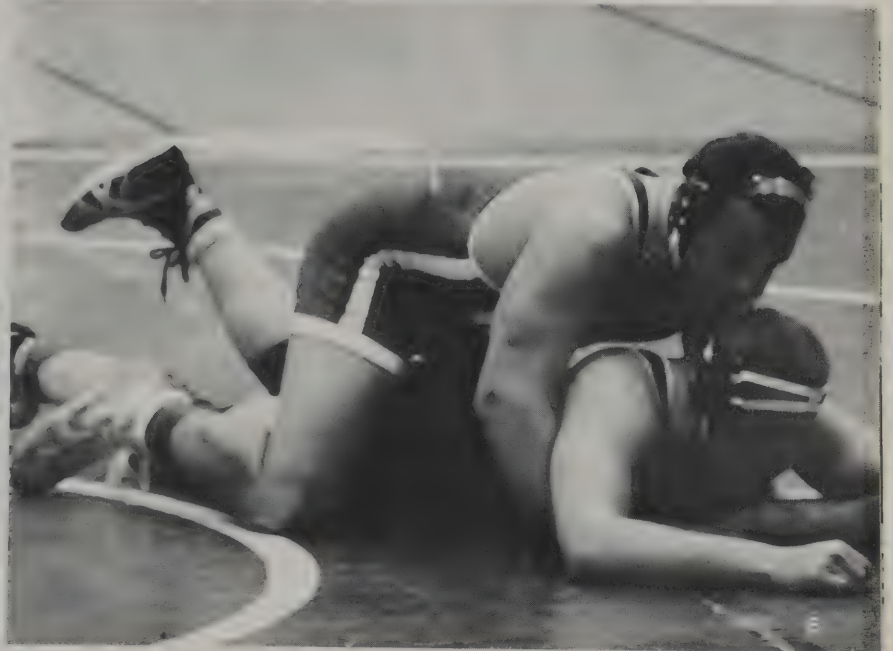

The varsity wrestlers ended their season with a record to be proud of. They won 10 out of 18 matches, and their success was largely due to their positive attitudes. Wrestling meets were well-attended; fans rocked the stands when they took on North.

It was Coach Brabender's second year and he was pleased with the results, "We fell into a pattern-we counted on the big guys to pull us through." Sometimes, however, that was impossible. Brabender hoped to have stronger middle weights next year. Five West wrestlers advanced to Sectionals. Scott Hawley, (98 lbs) ended his season with 18 wins and 10 losses. Jim Ewing (132 lbs) ended with 17-8-0. Shawn Kelly (167 lbs.) named MVP by his teammates, wrestled strong this year winning 20 conference matches. Bret Henkel, a junior dominated his 185 lbs weight class! His final record was 25-6-0. Heavyweight Matt Martell, named captain of the year, ended up the season at 23-8-0. The varsity wrestling team placed 4th at regionals and 7th out of 16 at sectionals.

The JV squad wrestled up to their full potential winning 9 out of 10 conference matches. 18 out of the 20 members had winning records. Heavyweight Marti Kettner had 28 wins and no losses.

POSITIVE ATTITUDES

1. Coach Brabender cares for Kevin Schmidt's injury between rounds. 2. After pinning North's Chad Alsteen, Shawn Kelly voices his elation. 3. Greg Wietz psyches up for the tough match ahead of him. 4. Rocky Delfosse scores 2 for a reversal. 5. Shane Lett pushes his opponent's shoulder in an attempt to break him down. 6. Matt Martell prepares to roll and pin. 7. Jim Ewing rolls his opponent over so he can stick him. 8. Kutschner looks to the coach for advice before the referee blows the whistle. 9. Scott Hawley gets ready to begin the match.

LAST & BURMAN LEADS TEAMS

1. Brandi Whitney painfully toughs out a race. 2. Jack Clark looks ahead. 3. Andy Bowen and teammate Mike Burman hold back a Berlin runner. 4. Trevor Bruss rounds another flag in action. 5. Cindy Pahlow paces herself. 6. West girls' get a great start in a race at home. 7. John Campbell gets a good perspective on the race after reaching the top. 8. Heidi Nuestifter concentrates on the ground. 9. Runners Beth Binder and Cindy Pahlow fare well against Waupun. 10. Dean Benson tackles a hill as his teammate follow.

The Oshkosh West boys' and girls' cross-country teams began their season by hosting Berlin and Waupun at Red Arrow Park. The boys' team placed first, narrowly beating Waupun by 7 points. Jack Clark led the boys with a 9th place time of 19:19. In the girls' race, West defeated the Waupun team 29-26. Senior Kim Last raced to an excellent early season time of 12:35 which won her first place for the day and set a new course record set by Melani Trine last year.

"The season was a long series of peaks and valleys," said Coach Hoxtell. The girls' team was led by Kim Last and Beth Binder. Kim Last was a first team All-conference selection for the third year in a row, and Beth Binder received honorable mention for the second year in a row.

The boys' team was led by junior Mike Burman. Mike, who was having trouble in the beginning of the year, came on strong half way through the season to lead West by placing higher than any other West runner for the remainder of the season. Coach Russ Hoxtell, pleased with Mike's performance, said, "Mike was our number one runner for most of the season."

The sectionals held well for West. Beth Binder finished 26th with a time of 13:23. Mike Burman finished top of the boys with an 19:21 which put him in 88th place.

SOCCER TEAM PRODUCES

The varsity soccer team had a winning season, placing second in the Fox Valley Conference with a record of 16-4-1.

The highpoint of the season was taking first place in the Oshkosh Invitational. According to Coach Werner, "Every game was tough, but we took them one game at a time."

"The most difficult game," commented Brian Olson, "was against Menasha." The team went into the game with a positive outlook, but just couldn't come out with a win at the end. Mike Boelter was impressed with the season's record, a strong showing for such a young team.

At the end of the season, Brian Olson was selected as top achiever, scoring sixty goals in four years. John Reigh was selected as the most valuable player.

The J.V. season, on the other hand, was a disappointing one ending with a record of 0-10. Dru Mitchell was the new coach.

"We never stopped trying, but we still kept coming up short," commented Adam Meszaros.

"Every game was tough but we took them one game at a time."

ANOTHER WINNING SEASON

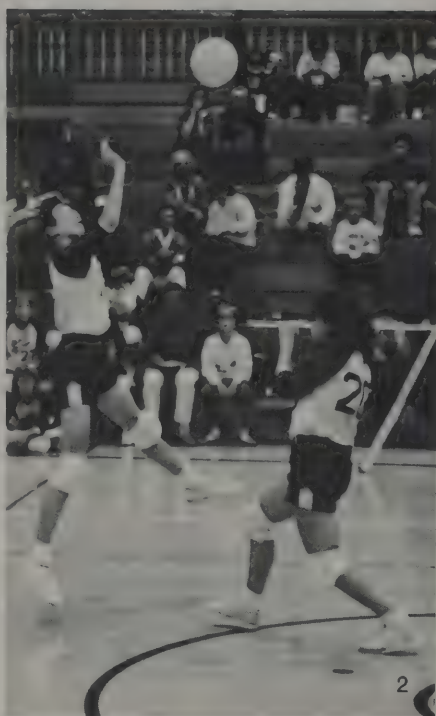

1. Rob Davies takes a breather. 2. Mark Balke maneuvers the ball around an opponent. 3. Fabian Ramirez runs after the ball. 4. Ross Leinweber heads the ball. 5. Goalie John Reigh thrusts the ball back out into the field. 6. Jeremy Fournier goes after the ball. 7. Jim Roberts jumps over an opponent to get the ball. 8. The team gathers together. 9. John Meyer dribbles the ball down the field. 10. Senior Brian Olson tries to steal the ball from opponent.

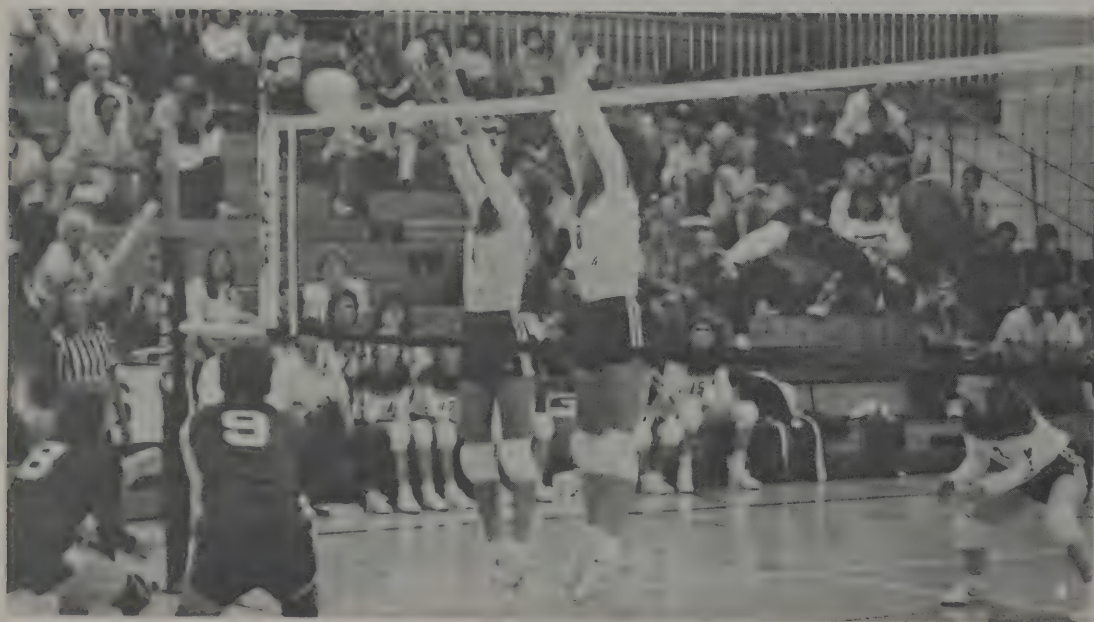

VARSITY FINISH SECOND

FROSH TAKE FIRST

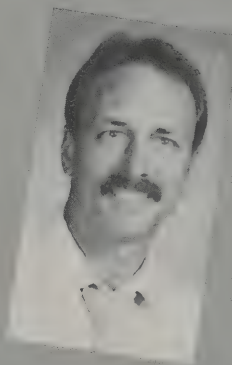

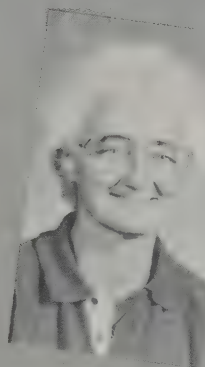

The varsity volleyball team finished with a total record of 16-5-5, which clinched them a second place position in their conference. Coach Sue Wasmuth called this the best season since 1982. Although the team did well all season, certain events did stand out. The Neenah tournament was one such event. The final game of the tournament, a playoff to determine first and second place, went into overtime. Even though they took second, the team walked away pleased with their performance. Winning the Appleton West tournament was another high point in the season.

The JV volleyball team finished the season with a record of 7-7, giving them fourth place in their conference. Coach Marilyn Gerrard felt this year's team had the best offense ever, and that they displayed excellent teamwork.

This year's freshman team became conference champs with a record of 10-0, under the coaching of James Buehner. He said that going into the second half of the season with an undefeated record caused the girls to play more intensely than they had during the first half. He felt that the season held no disappointments, although the first few weeks were rough with each practice lasting four hours.

1. The team looks on as Mary Puhl calls the ball. 2. Tanya Buege returns the ball with precision and speed. 3. Nanette Hearn follows through with a powerful serve. 4. Stacy Peterson and Michelle Detry attempt to block the serve. 5. Carolyne Ayers sets the ball as Diane Sommerfield backs her up. 6. Airborn, Chris Knecht tips the ball over the net. 7. It's substitution time as Carolyn Ayers replaces Maggie Celen. 8. Lisa Pesch winds up to serve. 9. The varsity team gathers to psyche up before a game.

"Teams did well all season"

NETTERS GAIN EXPERIENCE

The tennis season was not as successful as Coach Zeitler had hoped, due to the fact that the team was very young and lacked experience. The only returning letter winners were seniors Becky Steinhilber, Mary Bender, Ginger O'Laughlin and sophomores Sonya Berge, Lisa Kellerman, and Pam Dumke.

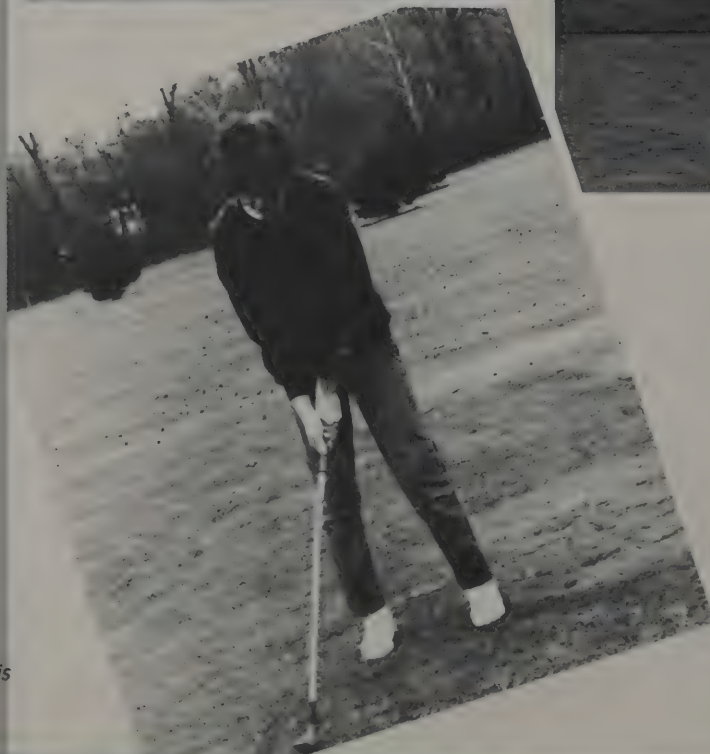

"Everyone worked really hard at the practices and showed a great deal of effort," commented Coach Brauger Zeitler. "I was very proud of everyone."

A highlight of the season was sending Becky Steinhilber to the State. This was the third consecutive year that she represented West.

Mr. Zeitler treated the entire team to a cook-out in his backyard as an end of the season party.

Mr. Zeitler looks forward to successful seasons, with continued effort from all team members and an increased number of participants. Hopefully, new uniforms and a new tennis court will be in the agenda for the upcoming years.

"Everyone work hard at practices to improve."

VOWELS SWINGS TO STATE

The girls' golf team, coached by Jay Van Theil, again had a combined team from north. Four members on the team were from West. They were Kelly Vowels, Amy Hartman, Kristin Berg, and Sara Sedlachek.

The girls' team record was 4-4 but coach Van Theil felt that the team was much better than the record indicated. "The girls had a great season. Everyone worked hard at trying to improve their game," replied Van Theil.

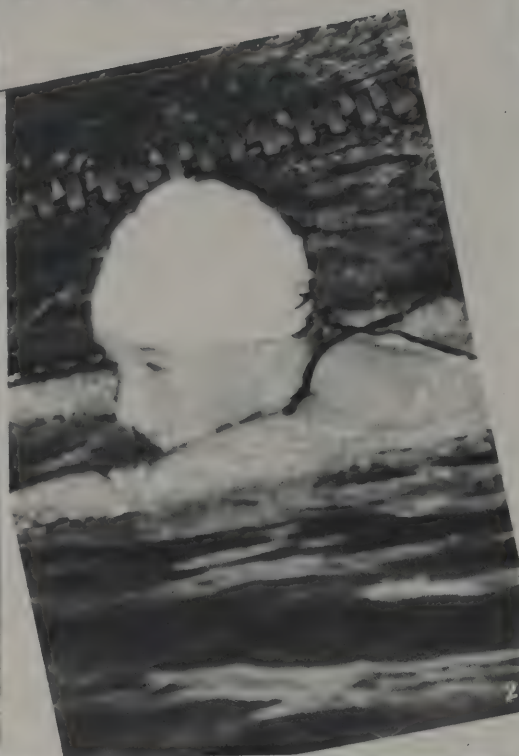

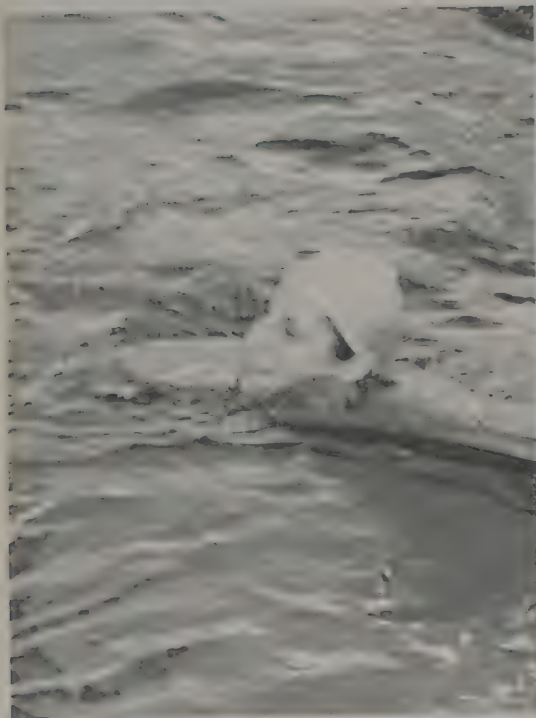

One member of the team did qualify for the state tournament. Kelly Vowels not only qualified but also took fifth place. Vowels stated, "I felt it was the best round I played all year. I was excited to even be playing in the state tournament." Vowels said she hopes to finish in the top ten in state again next year.

The girls are looking for a bright future with many letter winners returning.

1. Kelly Vowels lines up her putt. 2. During practice, senior Ginger O'Laughlin works on her serve. 3. Junior Amy Hartman attends to chip the ball. 4. At an after school practice, Mr. Zeitler gives some friendly advice. 5. Preparing to serve an ace is Sonya Berge. 6. Leah Van Deloo shows off her expert form. 7. Teeing off at Westhaven Golf Course, Kelly Vowels concentrates on her shot. 8. Pam Dumke serves the tennis ball. 9. Nicole Sorenson returns a shot during her match. 10. After winning her match, Pam Dumke heads to shake her opponents hand.

SWIMMERS SHOW

1. Kim Brady enjoys her kick set during a demanding practice. 2. Taking a poolside break is Kim Messer. 3. Sarah Litjens, Cindy Demski, Kristen Eiden, and Kim Messer ham it up after practice. 4. Carrie Wallace shows her enthusiasm during morning swim practice. 5. Kristen Eiden brings in her leg of the 200 yard medley relay. 6. Jill Peterson shows off her backward pike dive. 7. Taking a refreshing break after practice is Shannon Dobbins, Kelly Rank, And Jenny Dahlke. 8. Gemma Sorenson and Denise Steines work on their strokes. 9. Swimming the breast stroke, Sarah Litjens anticipates a first place finish. 10. Concentrating on every length, Kristin Eiden paces herself.

DRIVE AND DETERMINATION

Despite losing thirteen seniors, the girl's swim team kept their heads well above water this year with determination and drive. Led by their captains, seniors Kirsten Messer and Denise Steines, the team ended their season with a conference record of 2-4, and an overall record of 2-5. The junior varsity finished with a conference record of 1-1-4, and 1-1-5 overall.

"I was slightly disappointed with the outcome of the season, but the fact is that they're a young team," stated Coach Carrie Bores. "They're going through a process of rebuilding."

The formation of a smaller team challenged many swimmers and divers to excel with personal bests.

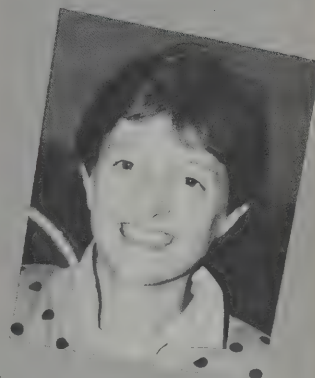

"Even though the team was small, we all got our best times," said Jennifer Kroening.

"We only had three divers, but we all pulled together through the season," commented Kerri Sosnoski.

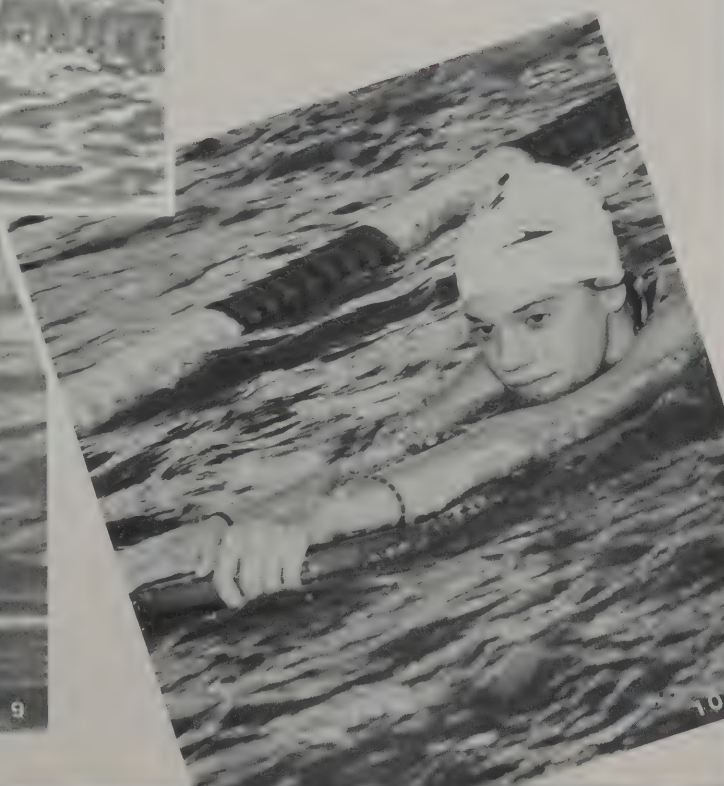

The highlight of the season was the dramatic improvement of many midseason times, including those of Liz Fischer, who broke the 500 yard freestyle freshman record.

"I thought the best part of the season was coming to morning practice," commented Jill Peterson. "All of us were still dressed in pajamas."

"Though I wish we would have done better at conference and sectionals, I thought that the girls worked well together," said Coach Bores. "They showed how close knit a team can be."

"They showed how close knit a team can be."

Dedication, Endurance Bring

As a result of a blockbusting season the boys' varsity swimming team finished second in their conference.

Coach Jim Zitzelsberger reported that this was one of the best teams in years. The team worked extremely hard this year which resulted in twenty of its members making varsity. Also for the first time in history, West brought home the trophy from the Raider Invationals along with many medals.

Mr. Zitzelsberger cited several top varsity swimmers which included: seniors, Rick Panske and Trip Kroening; juniors, Eric Jergenson, Mark Bloomberg, and Mike Wolfe; sophomores Tom Panske and Jay Hessenius and freshman Matt Spindler.

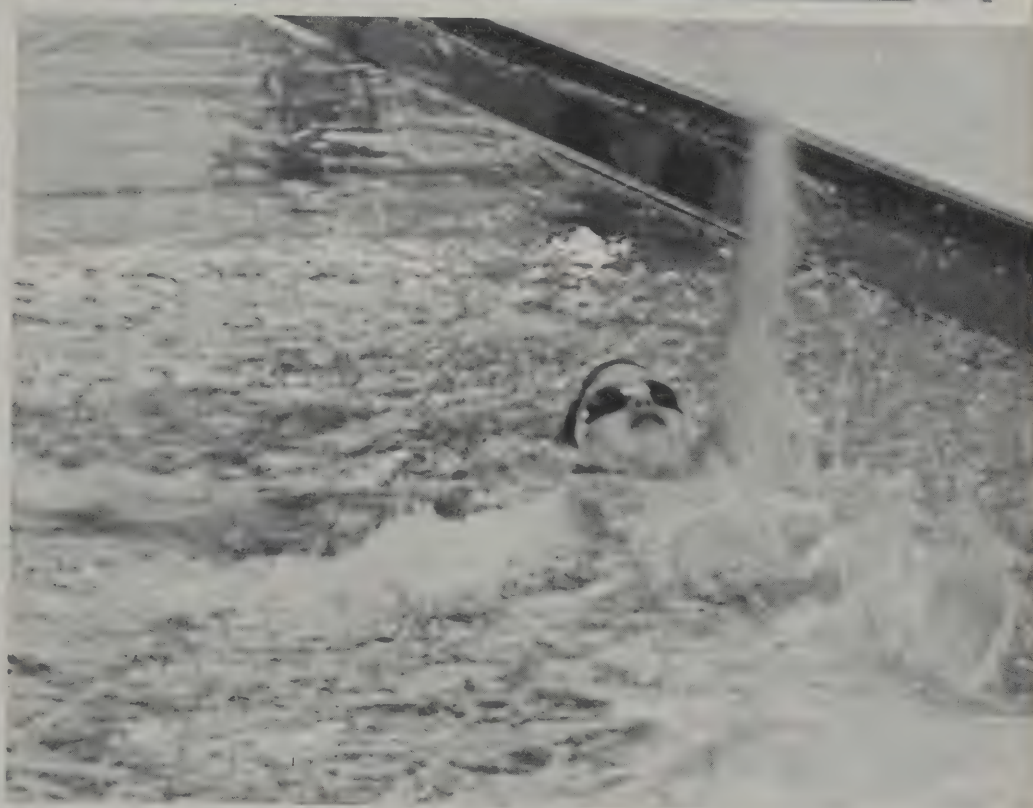

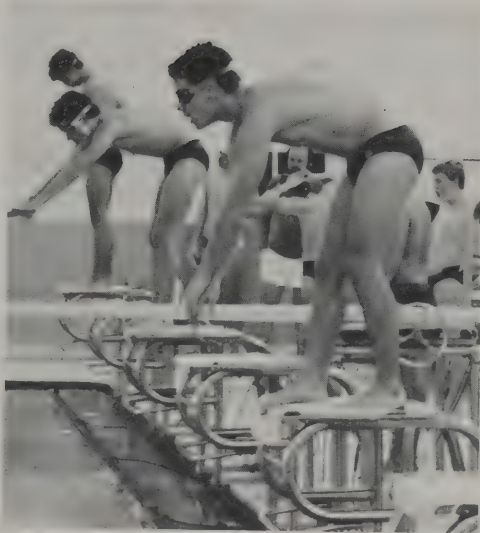

"At the beginning of the year we set a goal and we all accomplished it. I really think we've got a strong future, it was the best team since I've been here; not in talent, but in depth," added senior Rick Panske. "I think we've improved a lot over the year, and it was really nice being on a team that was on top of the conference," said junior Mike Sohn. Freshman Matt Spindler stated, "I think that people should give swimming more respect because it is a tough sport and a lot of work." Hard work it may be, but it was clearly reflected by their record.

"This has been one of the best teams in years. They worked extremely hard."

Team FVA Second

1. Scott Thurwatcher leaves the block for a strong start. 2. Chad Eiden waits in anticipation for the gun. 3. Rick Panske gasps for breath as he begins the second lap of the 100 yard breaststroke. 4. John Rost demonstrates top form executing an inward tuck. 5. In streamline position, Dave Jarapko soars overhead while Tom Panske brings in his leg of the 200 medley relay. 6. With toes curled around block, Jay Hessinius psyches himself up awaiting the start. 7. Kevin Pennau prepares to spring from the block to pull in the relay for West. 8. John Rost displays precision and timing in an inward pike dive. 9. Jerry Vienola glides through the water to bring in a smooth win in the 100 yard backstroke.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS: A TRYIN YEAR

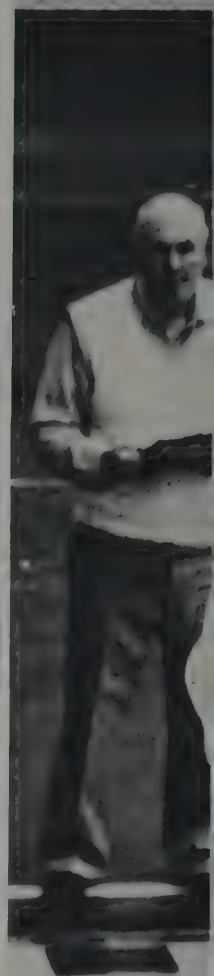

Even though the conference record was 0-4, gymnastics had a winning season according to Coach Marciniak. She based her opinion on the improvement she saw in the girls during the season. Marciniak said, "the season went well. Gymnastics seem to draw a nice bunch of hard working, dedicated, young ladies. They worked well together and the four seniors were great about lending a hand and helping the underclassmen." The team was young this year with three freshmen and four sophomores.

Although injuries didn't hurt the team's performance they were plagued by bad ankles, weak wrists, sore hands, and shin splints. The most serious injury did not occur until after tournament when sophomore Jill Peterson broke her hand.

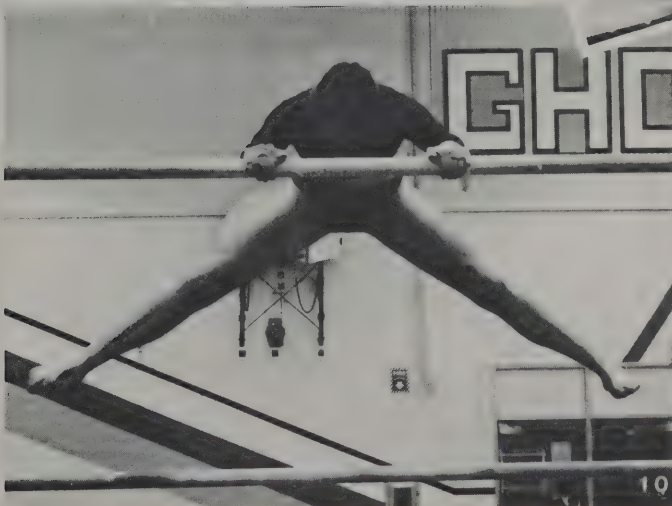

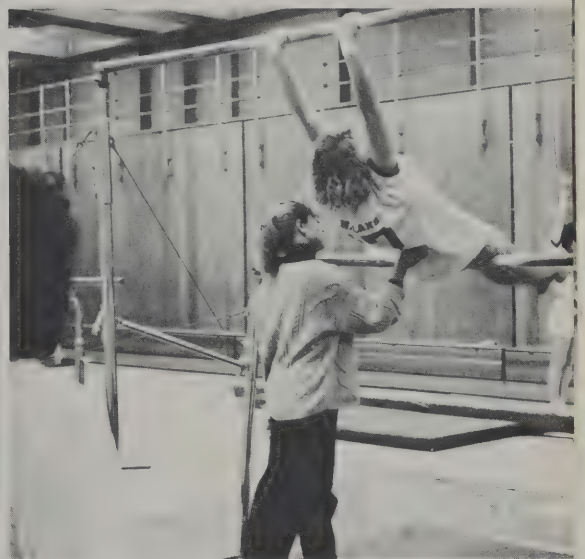

Most valuable athlete was senior all around gymnast Kristi Hendrickson. Her strongest events were floor, beam, and vault.

"Towards the end of the season things were getting intense. Everyone was on everyone else's nerves but during our meets there was always the support that was needed," said senior Dawn Gohlke. "The gym, during practice, was hot but during the meets it was always cold," said senior Kerri Sosnoski. "The girls worked hard but were really crazy. That was an everyday experience," commented Marciniak.

"The girls worked hard but were really crazy."

HARD WORK AND HIGH SCORES

1. Kim Omachinski attempts to do a forward roll. 2. Doing a back tuck is Kristi Hendrickson. 3. Flipping over the vault is Kerri Sosnoski. 4. Jill Peterson does back handsprings. 5. Doing a handspring is Nicole Schamens. 6. Kerri Sosnoski does a handstand pirouette. 7. On the beam is Jenny Wright doing a pose. 8. Dawn Gohlke stands with her father on parents night. 9. Coach Marciniak helps Kim Messer with a kip. 10. Kristi Hendrickson straddles over the bar. 11. Nicole Schamens executes a back tuck.

YOUNG TEAM GAINS

"This year we set the table. Next year we'll eat the meal"

Despite the 3-11 conference record, Coach Greg Weisse felt the varsity boys' basketball team learned new techniques, including a more pressured defense this season.

This was especially necessary because of the youth of the team. "We were a young team, one of the youngest in the conference. We had only three seniors this year. If we wouldn't have lost Steve Taylor, we would've had a different season."

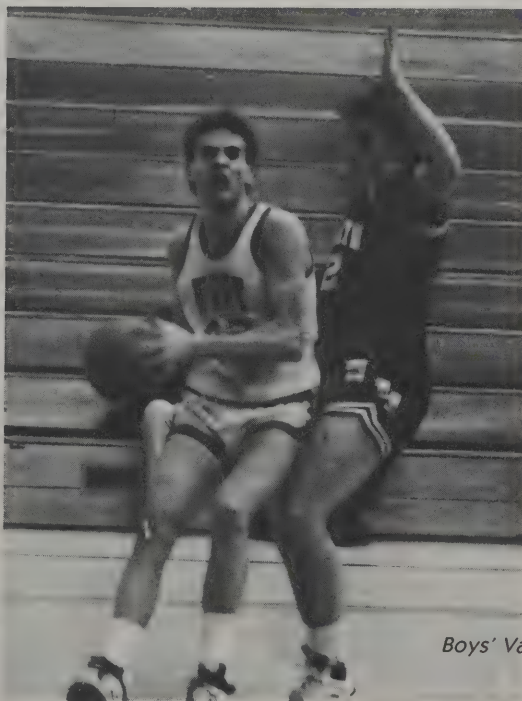

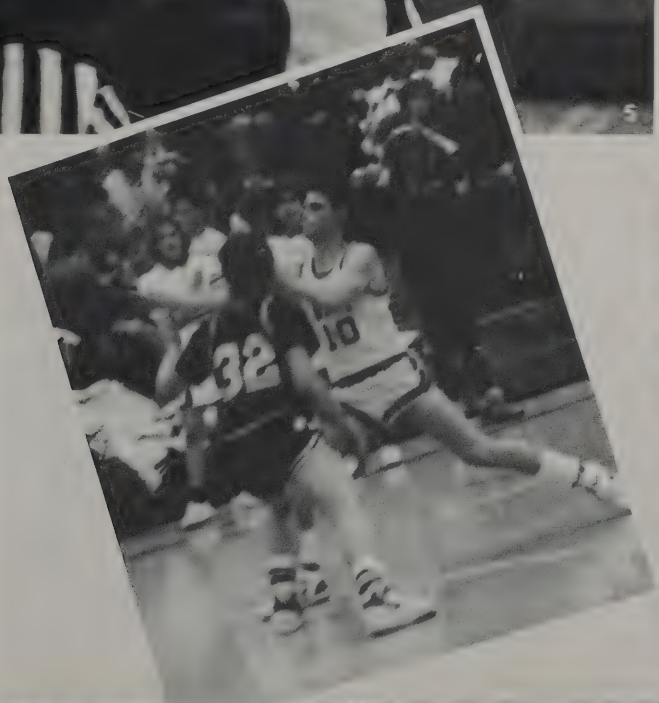

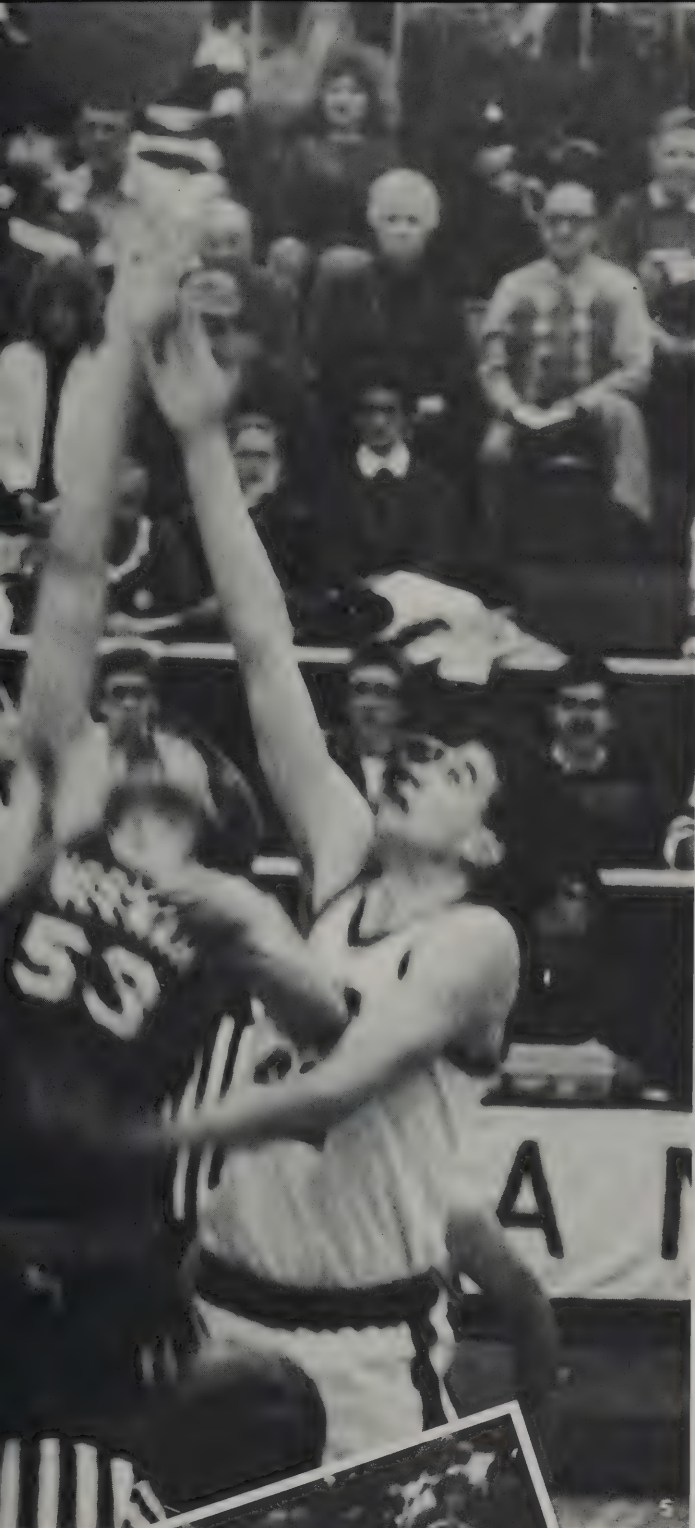

Several players, however, emerged as team leaders. Jason Jungwirth proved to be the leading scorer while Kevin Holm and Greg Smith were most improved. Brian Kraut led in rebounds and Ryan Bittner dominated in assists.

Bittner commented, "We have learned a lot this year and gained experience. It took a lot longer than anyone thought it would. Hopefully it will pay off next year for us."

The high point of the season was the 63-60 victory over Lourdes in the Holiday Classic.

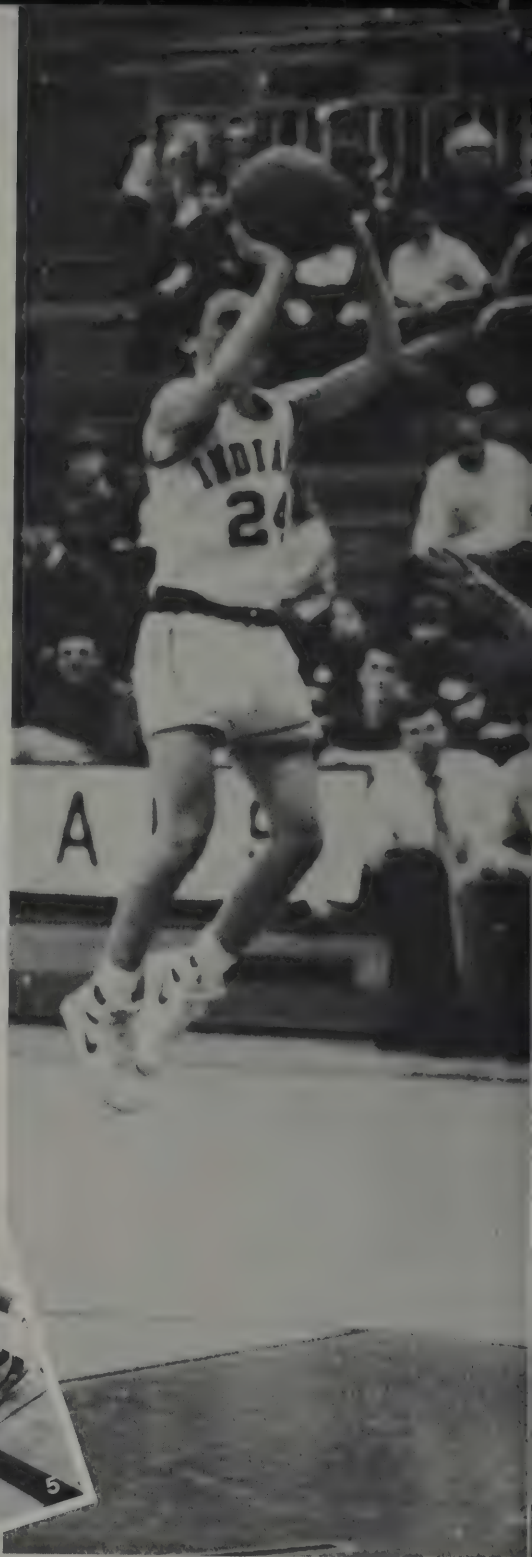

EXPERIENCE AND KNOWLEDGE

1. Jay Pica watches on as Brian Kraut takes the shot. 2. Greg Roberts looks for the open man. 3. Jay Pica outlets the ball. 4. Jason Jungwirth starts a break to their basket. 5. Brian Kraut reaches for control of the tip. 6. Coach Weisse calls out a play to be run. 7. Jason Jungwirth scans the court. 8. Kevin Holm dishes the ball to a teammate. 9. Brian Kraut drives for an easy two points.

Hard Work is Key

1. Fighting for position, Lee Stadler get the rebound. 2. Jason Hornig shoots during a freshman game. 3. Greg Meronk skies over his defenders. 4. Mike Pinkerton gives full effort while diving for a loose ball. 5. Lee Stadler attempts to block a shot. 6. Matt McCreery looks to in-bound the ball. 7. Freshman Adam Meszaros shoots with excellent form. 8. Greg Meronk dribbles around his defender. 9. Indian rebounders pull down the ball. 10. Mike Pinkerton puts up the ball. 11. Judd Hammen awaits the pass from a teammate.

To Future Success

The JV boys basketball team had a successful season. "They worked hard at practices and put forth a great deal of effort during the games. The team's ability to work hard will bring them success in the future years," commented a proud coach Mr. Meronk.

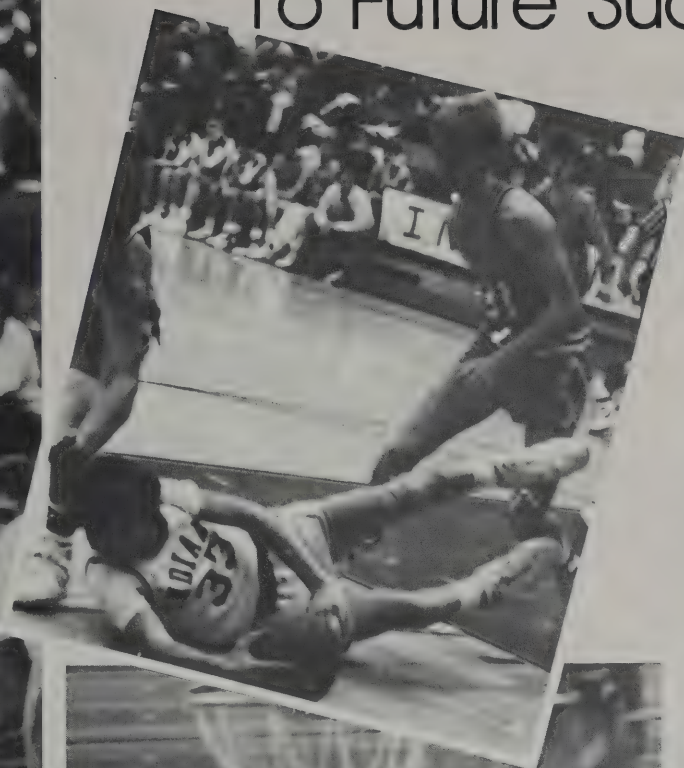

The highlight of the season was defeating Lourdes and Eau Claire Memorial team, which had only one previous defeat, at the McDonald's Holiday Classic.

The team averaged about 62.2 points per game. Coach Meronk cited Judd Hammen and Matt McCreery as the top rebounders while Mike Pinkerton and Greg Meronk lead in assists. Scott Trinrud was cited as the top defensive player. Overall the team did quite well and with continued effort from all members the team should do well in future years.

The freshman teams also had successful seasons. "The kids gained valuable experience that will help them in the future," commented coach Cholewinski. Jason Koeshall and Mike Grey were cited as the White teams top players.

"The team works hard at practice and during games," stated coach Meronk.

VARSITY HAS BEST RECORD EVER

The girls' varsity basketball team had a very successful season. They went out fighting with a record win of 12 games.

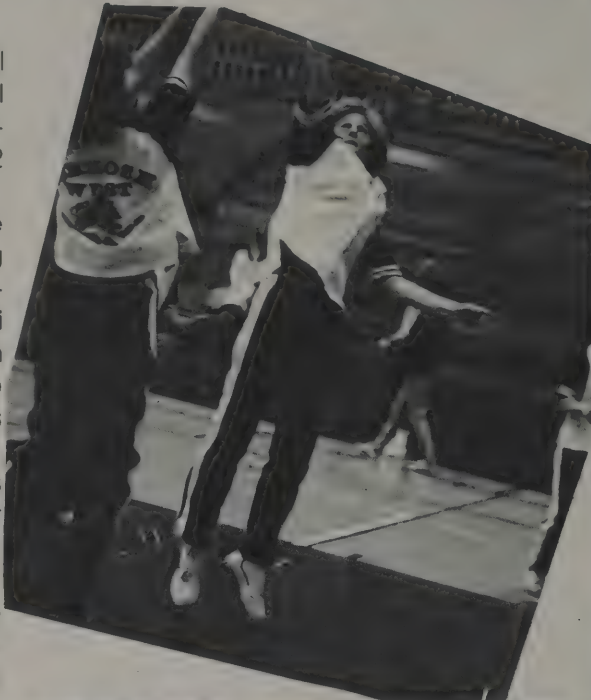

The leading scorers were senior, Niki Flack, averaging 15.1, junior Michelle Detry averaging 12, and senior Heidi Neustifter averaging 10. Both Heidi and Michelle were also the most improved players on the team.

The top defensive players consisted of Becky Steinhilber as guard and Michelle Detry as forward.

Leaders of the team were Michelle Detry in rebounds followed by Niki Flack. Heidi Neustifter lead in assists averaging 4 per game. While Niki Flack lead in blocked shots.

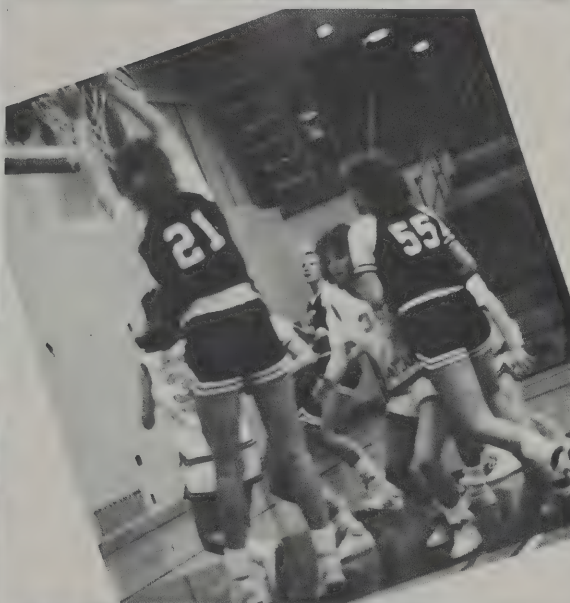

Niki Flack stated, "I wished we would have won the close games, it would have made the season a lot better."

Teri Moon added, "I'm really happy with our home record 9-3."

"It was a season of close games."

GIRLS ARE REGIONAL CHAMPS

1. Teri Moon and Karen Tigert warm up before the game. 2. Michelle Detry dribbles past a Kimberly player. 3. Becky Steinhilber(21) rushes past Kimberly's defense. 4. Niki Flack(55) waits for the rebound; Michelle Detry(41) assists. 5. Heidi Neustifter(25) tries to dribble past her defender. 6. The girls begin the regional tournament against North. 7. Going strong to the hoop, Niki Flack puts up a shot. 8. While her teammates fight for position, Becky Steinhilber takes a shot. 9. Amy Hartman awaits the pass. 10. Jill Krause fast breaks down the court.

FRESHMAN GIRLS' BASKETBALL

1. Tanya Buege takes the ball down the court. 2. Krista Wolfgram concentrates during a pivot drill. 3. Tracy Peppler receives the ball from center, Jenny Cada. 4. Renee Sandbeck scans her options during a home game against Neenah. 5. The team fights for the rebound in practice. 6. Carrie Radke pivots with skill. 7. Diane Resop takes a breath as she rounds the gym once more. 8. Renee Sandbeck puts the ball up for 2 points. 9. West player sends the ball floating through the basket to put West in the lead. 10. Coach Lemkuil sends the ball forward. 11. Team members struggle for the rebound. 12. Tracy Peppler prepares for Jenny Cada's pass.

DEPTH IS A PROBLEM FOR JV

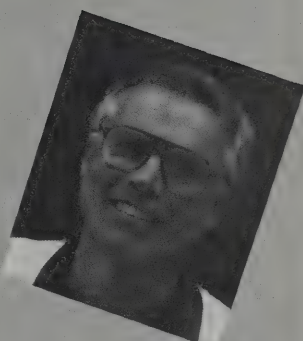

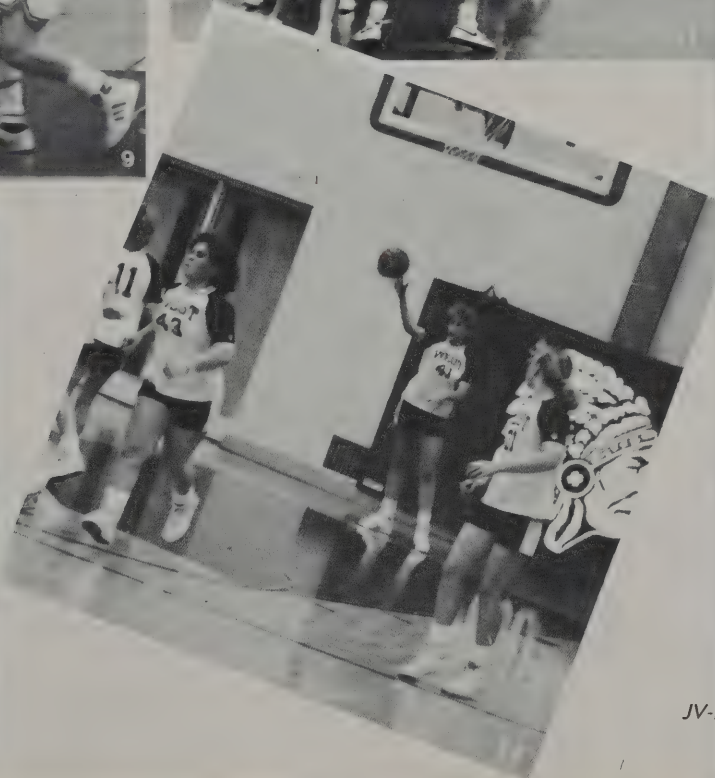

The junior varsity and freshman girls' basketball teams both had uneventful seasons this year, as they had 1-12 and 1-8 overall records respectively.

Having only ten JV girls posed a major problem. Coach Rulseh said, "Our biggest disadvantage was that we had no depth. The other teams could throw players into the game when we were just getting close-they came in like platoons."

Overall, Rulseh said, "The JV players were enthusiastic and worked extremely hard." Top scorers were Chris VanDongen and Tracey Peppler. Jenny Cada was the top rebounder, averaging 14 per game.

The freshman team also had fewer people than usual. Coach Lemkuil said, "There were so few girls that it was difficult to practice. We also had different girls all throughout the season. In spite of it all, the girls steadily improved-they did a great job." Top scorers were Debbie Jung and Krista Wolfgram.

"They worked extremely hard. They steadily improved and did a great job."

Diving into a pool of water sounds refreshing, but according to a group of seniors, they had other ideas on what they would dive into.

If you could dive into a pool of anything, what would it be?

Scott Thurwatcher: green jello, with 10 female professional jello wrestler-ettes.

Beth Medo: a pool of oil beads.

Brian Kluge: a pool of water with a bathing suit made up of "Pop Rocks".

Leah Lyons: a pool filled with lots of Chippendale MEN, each holding a box of jello in one hand, and a champagne bottle in the other.

Greg Weitz: bikini clad women with beautiful bodies covered in baby oil.

Jodi Patrie: gumballs! d chew my way out!

Tom Skoglund: women (preferably unclothed).

Sherri Weitz: Californian lifeguards (Hot Men!) surrounded by Life Savers candy.

Derek Fritsche: grapefruit juice & chocolate.

Lisa Borchardt: honey, with Cap'n Crunch cereal spread through.

Shane Lett: NON-alcoholic beverages, lightly sprinkled with Froot Loops.

Lisa Handy: a pool of guys resembling Russ Schmude and Dave Averkamp.

Dmitri Colbert: the Dallas Cheerleaders swimming in body paint.

Brian Kumbier: Wopatooli!

Brian Harr: pool of Bud without a big head.

THOSE GLORY DAYS AT OSHKOSH WEST

Four long years ago we entered the final phase of our childhood. We were young, naive, and eager to please. We listened to all the "frosh" jokes. We bought elevator passes and sat on bubblers. We eagerly listened to the immortal words of the upper classmen . . . and with immature obedience followed through with their humorous in a colorful array at the school function they could concoct for us. We actually studied, or most of us tried. And somehow, we made it through . . . then they told us we only had three more years to go.

Sophomore year just flew on by. We had found our cliques-we discovered short cuts. We participated with our fervent eagerness . . . but we also were selective in our choices.

Junior year came along and a few things had changed . . . we knew how to drive and we terrorized the school. We learned to relax, let it all hang loose. We mellowed out our school spirit but still let them know we were there. We bragged and the last day of school we pronounced to all:

LET IT BE KNOWN, WE ARE SENIORS!

Then, we embarked on the final road to adulthood. People started to pressure us, telling us we had to decide. We started cracking down 'cause they told us otherwise we wouldn't GRADUATE.

We still had our fun though . . .

Senior Girls

Prom

Basketball Games

School Dances

Graduation

And you know what? . . . We made it through! So now on the final page of our childhood . . . We will go our separate ways but always remember the happy memories we had together, fun-filled, torturous school days.

And twenty years from now when you look back, look to the sky with a shimmer of a tear in your eye and say:

I Remember Those Glory Days at OSHKOSH WEST

On the night before Christmas the Seniors were lying in their water beds, listening to their stereos and fantasizing of tomorrow's surprises. But when they woke up and opened their gifts, this is what they saw.

Jenny Marty-I wanted a Hershey kiss as big as the moon. I got a regular sized Hershey kiss.

Andy Poeschl-I wanted a stereo, a Subaru, and a 5'3 blonde. I got a stereo, a Subaru, and a 5'3 blonde.

Michelle Krienitz-I wanted a car that runs. I got a pair of flannel pj's.

Jody Patrie-I wanted an expensive fur. I got an acrylic sweater.

AND WHAT DID YOU GET?

Brian Tessen-I wanted a new car. I got a key chain.

Angie Folven-I wanted a 6 foot, savage, tan, blonde male model. I got a typewriter and a gold watch.

Troy Sennholz-I wanted a Porsche. I got a remote controlled one.

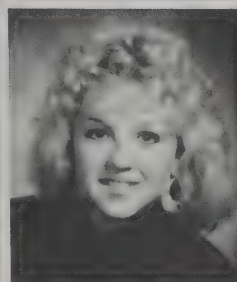

Kira Griepentog-I wanted my boyfriend to fly in town to see me and give me a ring. I got what I wanted.

Tim Chiang-I wanted to go to California and catch some rays and see the sights. I got 2 feet of snow and a brand new shovel.

Chris Triphan-I wanted a bass guitar. I got a pack of gum, a nail clipper, and a tool set.

FAVORITE ROOMS IN THE SCHOOL

Seniors spent 5040 hours at West not counting lunch and afterschool activities. These were the rooms they most enjoyed spending time in:
Patty Brady-The 'O' Room because everyone went there to socialize.

Mike Boelter-The girls' locker room because that's where the girls' are.

Lori Newhouse-Mrs. Gnagi's room because the desks were arranged differently and there were colorful things on the walls.

Scott Thurwatcher-the bathroom because I escaped many boring minutes of class there.

Dee Dee Siekierke-the NOTEBOOK office because I spent three quarters of the year living in there.

Scott Donker-the bank because it has money.

Mary McMahon-C15, because I could go there anytime and graciously be handed a $5 bill from my father.

Greg Suess-The gym because no books are needed there.

Niki Flack-Mr Buehners' room because we could listen to old 50's music, drink hot chocolate, and talk.

Tim Schneider-The driver simulation room because my old simulator did 110 mph.

Kerri Sosnoski-The little theatre because it's usually warm and the seats were comfortable.

Dean Metko-Mr. Thompson's room because it was USUALLY warm and a fun class.

Cliff Suess-Mr. Kruegers' room because he knows how to have fun in a boring English class.

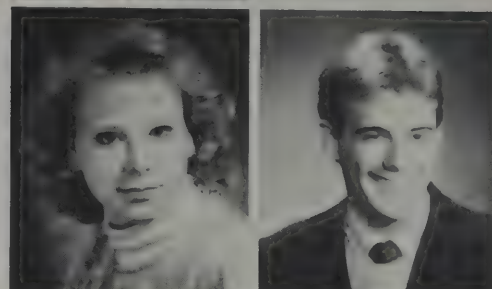

Ann Gulig-Mr Holladays' room because I often went there for help and advice.

WAKE UP!!!

Did you have a special morning routine that you followed daily? Most of us did. And times have changed; some guys were actually taking time and care in their preparation for the school-day experience. Here are the patterns diligently followed by one guy and girl:

GIRL: I awake, and hit snooze. Again, again, and again. I roll out of bed and pat the cat on the head. I utilize the bathroom facility. Then I brush my teech (Colgate tartar control gel). I turn on my curling iron and head for the shower. I get clean and proceed to dry off. I journey downstairs and feed the cat. Cautiously, I venture back up to my pit and dry my hair — upside down for volume, of course. Put my contacts in and get dressed. Change clothes four or five times. I apply layer upon layer of makeup and perfume, in a futile attempt to perfect "the look". Smile feebly at myself in the mirror. WHOOPS!!! I almost forgot to put my earrings in. I go back downstairs and toast a bagel. MMMMMMMM . . . Go out and start my economical car. I speed (just a little, officer) to school. I arrive at 7:42. Another day.

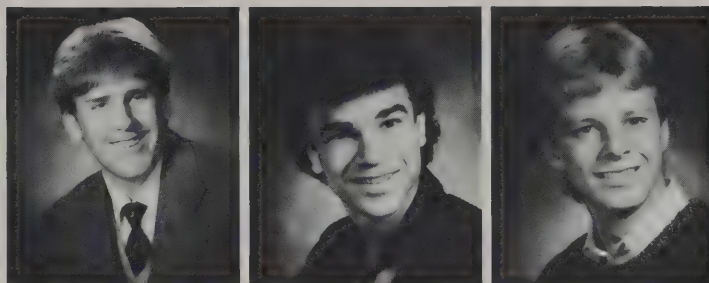

GUY: I wake up. Stuck in the crack of my waterbed again. I go to the bathroom and brush my pearly whites. I start the hot water flowing in the shower and I hop in. Scrub my gorgeous bod squeaky clean. I get out and dry my gorgeous bod off. After I've applied a half a tube of gel, I blow dry the sticky mess that is now my hair. KICKIN!! It's standing straight up. Exactly the look I was trying to achieve. Next I pop in the old eyes. Ah — the world is brighter, and I am one awesome looking dude!!! I have been observing this frequently in the mirror on my closet door. What to wear? I'll go for the subtle look. Girls love it. I wonder if Mom has breakfast ready for me yet. Wolf it down and take one last peek in the mirror. I'm ready for school.

1. Watching her reflection in the mirror, Sarah Bloom applies layer upon layer of makeup. 2. "Kickin!" Brian Harr exclaims, having just made his hair stand straight up; he has definitely achieved the look.

SENIORS MOST AWESOME CLASS

What was the most awesome class you have ever taken, and why?

Chemistry with Mr. Gayeske. Need I say more? - Susie Muinde

English with Mr. Krueger cause he's a hyper guy with more sense of humor than hair. - Troy Sennholz

Sociology. Ed Holladay is a gas. - Jenny Marty

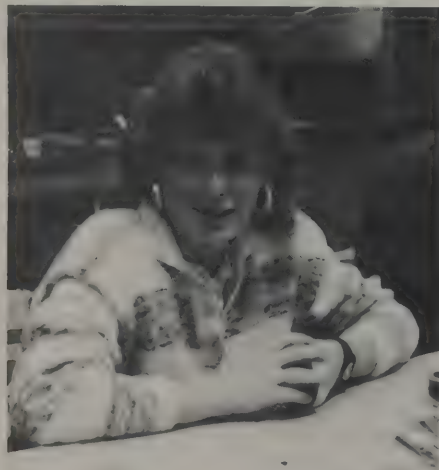

Psychology because Mr. Krumm is a really neat guy and a great teacher. We had a lot of fun times. - Lisa Seibold

Electronics. Mr. Clark is a great guy. Not only did I learn alot, but electronics set the course for my future. - Tom Skoglund

Creative writing with Mrs. Wesenberg. That is the most enjoyable and downright silly class I have ever taken. I even learned alot, too. - Pete Hodge

Electronics class because Mr. Clark is an awesome teacher. - Cliff Suess

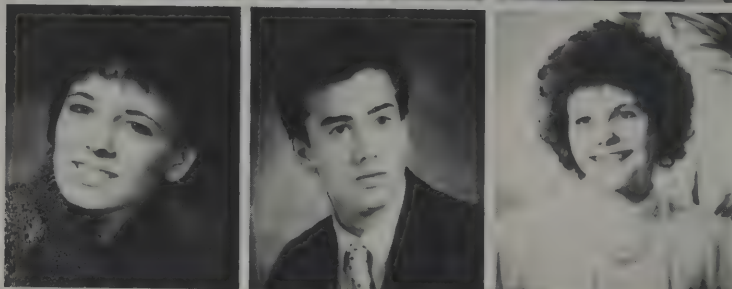

Psychology . . . Mr. Buehner told the best stories. - Becky Steinhilber.

Over the past years of my life I have attended countless parties, and I always try to observe the various types of behavior displayed at these functions. Of course, the only reason I was at these parties was to observe the behavior, not to cavort around while intoxicated.

The following types of behavior are referred to as darkness stupor personalities. These types of behavior are not displayed by people who know their limit.

1) The Klutz: this person displays a sudden loss of coordination but still attempts to perform feats that only sober people can accomplish, such as: shooting pool, going up or downstairs and using utensils just to name a few.

2) The Talker: this person is affected by alcohol in a most interesting way. All thought processes generally stop and a direct link forms between the talking consciousness and his mouth. As a result, the thoughts of the talker pop right out of his mouth before he even knows it. Furthermore, anything the talker says is usually completely useless to anyone unfortunate enough to be listening. Example: "Did you know the average beer can contains 16 trillion bubbles, and I like to ski."

3) The Maniac: this person is kind of a combination of the klutz and the talker, which makes the maniac much more destructive. These people turn red when they drink and like to express their anger by flying around the place. These persons also like to pick fights, kick, yell, scream, etc.

The Corpse: this person does not display too much behavior because when he reaches this state, he is about as exciting as a bundle of dirty laundry. In fact, people have sometimes tossed these corpses into the washing machine thinking they were dirty laundry.

The Oshkosh Senior Girls' Dance was different from usual. It wasn't held in Oshkosh. To the delight or disappointment of many, it took place at the Paper Valley Hotel in Appleton. North, West, and Lourdes all pitched in for Audio Experience, the D.J.

Senior girls and their dates enjoyed elbow-to-elbow dancing on the F-room sized dance floor. The dance was semi-formal, but some girls wore everything from casual dresses to prom type gowns. The guys dressed in sweaters, dress pants, or suits. Couples retired to cabins or hotels after the dance to continue the fun and just relax.

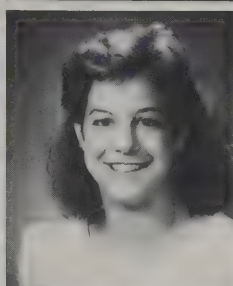

Senior Girls' 1988 was a great experience!

This year we struggled to make the "88 THE FLIP SIDE" a real hit. Our Special Thanks to:

Pat Hare — For putting up with our flipped-out staff and all of our problems with this book.

John Thompson — For turning himself upside down and inside out taking our fashion pictures and the monkey bar shot.

Mrs. MacDonald — For getting us lots of information and lists.

Mrs. Leiby — Her flipped-out, wacky copy machine was usually there when we needed it.

Mr. Bruss and the Math Department — For letting us use their computers, which we almost blew-out from use.

Our custodians (especially Bob Dettlaff, Red Haupe, and Tony Grable) — We love them dearly for putting up with us and the dreadful messes we made.

The study hall monitors — They let us borrow students at random for pictures without a single complaint.

Maggie Ceelen — For alphabetizing all of the Senior Directory questionnaires.

Mrs. Koenig — Just for being the best business advisor a flipped-out staff could have.

Carol Nimke — For cheering us up and sustaining us with food.

Michele Riegert, Kim Brady, Penny Prellwitz, Pete Hodge, and John Hergert — For writing hit articles while not officially being on staff.

Mr. "Wally" Wollerman — For taking many awesome sports pictures, helping out with the Senior Slide Show, and getting us the sports group shots.

Tech Services — For developing and printing all the slides for the Slide Show.

Camera Casino — For printing our wonderful 16 pages of colored pictures.

Students were exposed to a new idea. The Breakfast Club, thanks to Ms. Marjorie Doering. Run by the Schoolwide Activities Committee and coordinated by Ms. Doering, the informal breakfast was attended each month by 24 students, two non-teaching staff members, and one community representative. Three students from each grade were chosen randomly and told to bring a guest so that they knew someone and were comfortable.

There was no formal structure to the event. The community representative offered some brief remarks and answered questions about subjects pertaining to teenagers.

The Breakfast Club

1. Brent Seaborn and Jim Busby relax against one of the many signs that caused confusion as the speed limit changed to 65 on some rural interstate highways. 2. Serah Muinde serves a brat to Becky Steinhilber at the First Annual Senior Breakaway. 3. Observing the new seat belt laws. David Blust's car "buckles up" for him.

4. Wondering how stamp rates can continue to rise while long distance phone rates continue to drop. Gwendolyn McPeake sends out a costly letter. 5. Mrs. Marjorie Doering of the Media Center is the only teacher to retire. Others waited for the pending early retirement bill still in the state legislature.

LYNCH MOB DOES RIMERS OF ELDRITCH

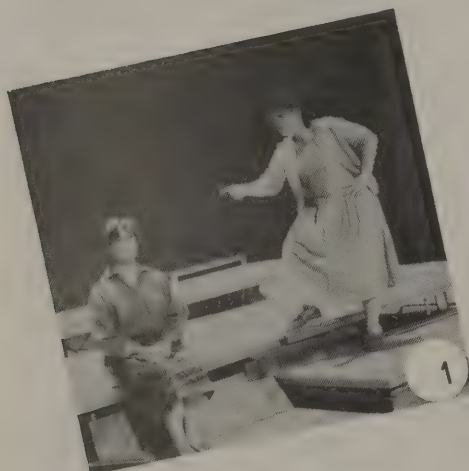

Sock 'n' Buskin presented the spring play, the Rimers of Eldrich. It was a difficult and complicated play about the guilt and hypocrisy in a small midwestern town and its refusal to take responsibility for the murder of an old man. Norm Graeber commented on the plot, "This play was almost as confusing as I am." Dana Worland added jokingly, "It was very good, the audience didn't understand it, but it was very good."

After weeks of practices, it was performed on May 12-14 and Brought the house down." LeeAnn Abrams summed up the audiences feeling by saying "Damn, it was good!" The production was directed by Tom Lynch.

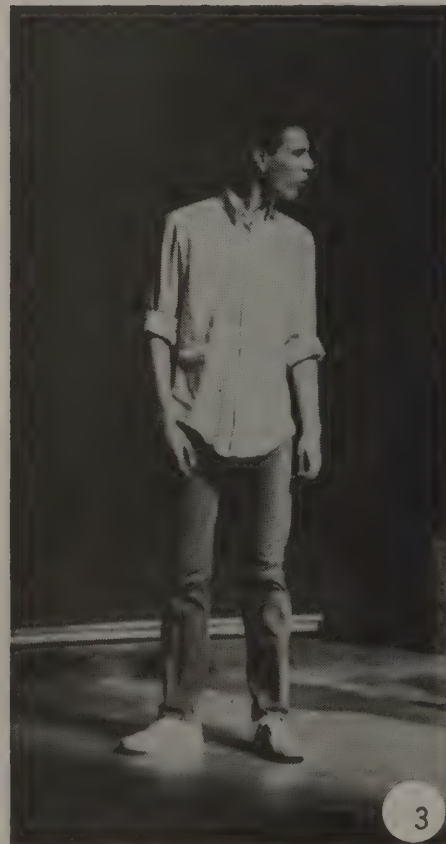

Holy Schreuren said, "Although this is only one of my first plays, it was fun and I can't wait to do it again!" Will Vogt said, "It taught me that theatre is a natural high that can't be beat." Jenny Maclean described the experience by saying, "It was especially mindboggling. It was nice to have a spring play to bring the Lynch Mob family closer together."

FASHION AFFORDABLE, COMFORTABLE

Spring fashion could be summed up with one word; COOL. Anyone who was fashionable tried to achieve and maintain the look. This sometimes proved difficult as temperatures inside reached 100 degrees.

Many people succeeded in feeling cool. This was done by wearing the most comfortable clothes. Roomy shorts, sweatshirts, and, T-shirts were the most popular. Senior skip day, and class T-shirts could be found on the backs of anxious Seniors boasting, "We're History" and "Let's the Good Times Roll."

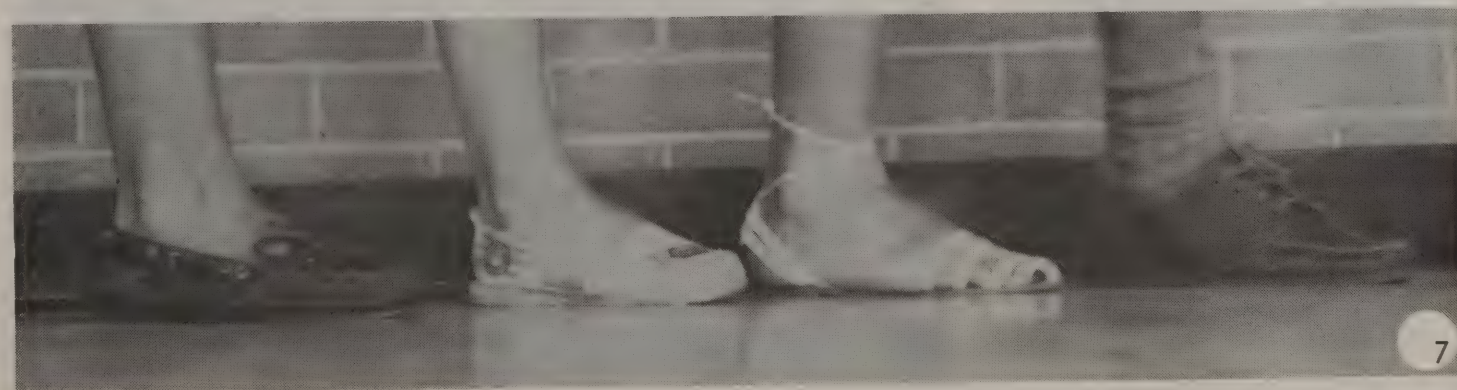

Although end-of-the-year fashion presented nothing spectacular, it's affordability, comfort, and versatility were widely acclaimed.

T-SHIRTS PROVIDE VERSATILITY

1. Micki Averkamp, Lisa Kellerman, and Jill Krause model comfortably cool summer T-shirts and shorts. 2. Kristi Ashton sports the ever-popular Dweebie tie-dyed T-shirt and matching shorts. 3. Voted best-dressed by their class, Beth Medo and Jeff Meinen are looking hot. 4. Junior Kelly Groskruetz shows off her tan in a two-tiered mini and tank. 5. Adam Guerts and Ben Brown achieve the "COOL" look. 6. Senior Skip Day and Class T-shirts were the latest rage for the '88 seniors. 7. Espadrilles, lace-ups, tennis, flats, and bare feet were all popular in the spring four fashion category.

DANCERS "NEVER SAY GOODBYE"

"The ceiling fell? You're kidding? But they're doing it the same as last year and it stayed up." - "Ya, you should've seen it-all of the streamers just kinda came down at once."

And so another prom began...

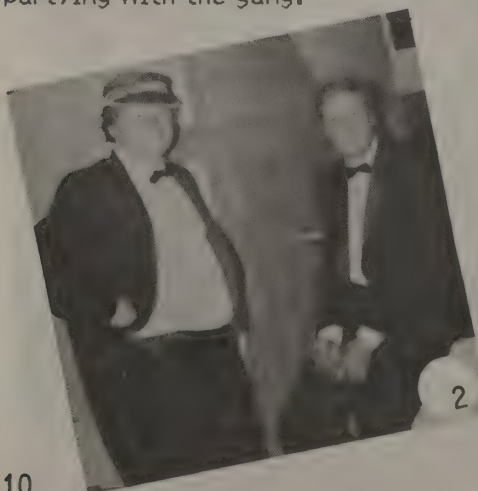

The initial excitement was in asking someone to go, or being asked, and making final plans with friends. Anticipation built and the night before, many students could be found transforming the halls into forests and castle walls. The theme of this year's prom was Bon Jovi's song, "Never Say Goodbye". The F-room was decorated to represent a castle, village and forest, complete with three dragons.

The big day arrived. Students were all over town picking up flowers, purchasing "party supplies" and other last minute items. Getting ready took some girls as long as four hours and some guys only ten minutes, but in the end, everyone was dazzling.

Most couples dined in groups choosing restaurants such as: The Granary, The Bellevue Room, Christies or The Power Boat Club, and then moved on to small parties in rented hotel rooms or cabins.

At the dance, music was played by Audio Experience and refreshments were supplied by Pepsi. Members of the court included: Mary McMahon, Mark Schamens, Shelley Neitzel, Jay Jones, Lisa Handy, Brian Olson, Kris Porath, and Dave Avercamp, with Pat McCain and Patty Brady reigning as King and Queen.

After the dance, prom-goers had the option to stay and gamble in the casino. Or they could disperse and party. In the process of leaving, several senior guys took it upon themselves to "borrow" the small dragon. It was reported that "Dudley" had a great evening partying with the gang.

FIND THE JELLYBEAN OUT OF CONTROL

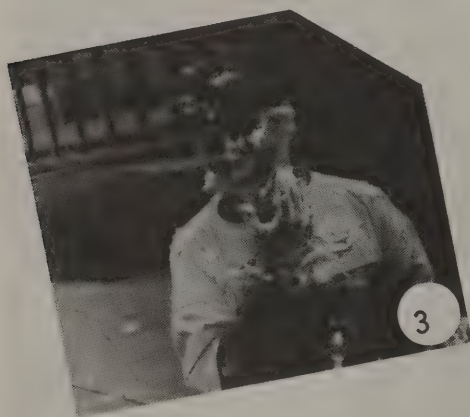

During intramurals, certain events were more popular than others. Snow Blast and Gung-Ho recruited the most participants. In April, many people found themselves covered with whip cream because of the "find the jellybean contest" that got out of hand. As anyone could tell, it was the start to another wild and weird Gung-Ho Fest week.

The rest of the week was full of mountains of foamy shaving cream, wild and brightly colored beach attire, and cuddly animals. No one could forget the last day of Gung-Ho Fest. The moth balls were removed and out of the attics came our father's boxer shorts and favorite college sweatshirts.

When it finally came to a close, the student body was sticky, wet, and a little tired. The effort paid off for those who won. As for the rest of the teams, well, there's always next time. Hopefully, it will prove as messy and as fun.

TEAM INTRAMURALS MOST POPULAR

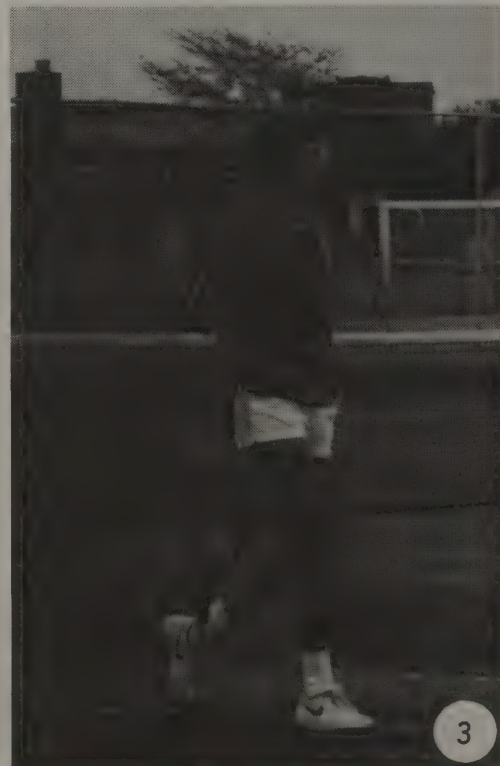

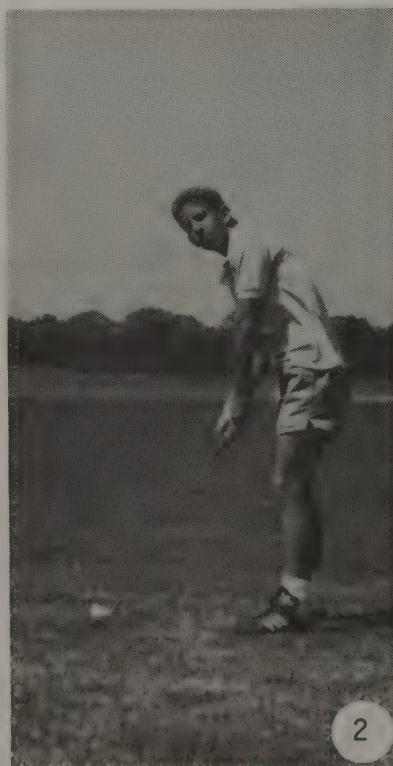

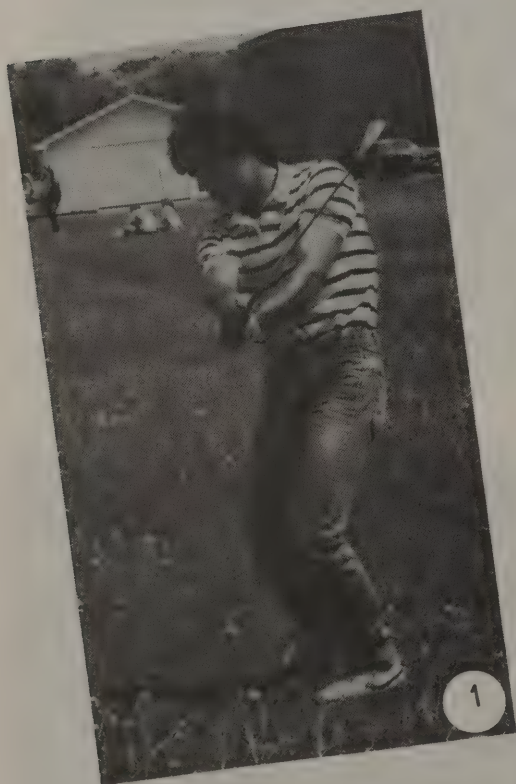

GOLF TEAM GOES TO THE TOP

The 1988 spring golf team came out strong and finished 2nd in the FVA conference with a 10-2 record. This was the best dual meet record since 1981. The team's success was due to the strong performances from senior co-captains, Jason LaRue and Jack Farvour. Other varsity members included Randy Schuhart, Matt McCreery, and Ross Leinweber.

Coach Tom Nadeau commented, "These kids have played extremely well. They're always only one or two strokes away from taking first. I am very happy for taking second in conference." Post-season honors included Randy Schuhart taking 2nd in the conference, and Jason La Rue taking 3rd.

The 1988 boys' tennis team looked to its seniors for leadership as it compiled a winning season of 8-3 and 4-3 in the FVA conference. With all top five varsity players being seniors, this was a peak season. Leading the team were Bob Starkey, Jim Bremer, John Davis, Tim Chiang, and Sean Rehder. Coach Bragueur Zeitler commented on the season by saying, "I was satisfied with the consistency of play. The varsity team played up to their potential."

The high point in the season was a 7-2 rout of Oshkosh North where West swept four of five singles matches to make it twice in two years where West has defeated North. Bob Starkey remarked, "It was a great feeling to beat our cross-town rival North in such a dominant manner. "All Conference honors went to Jim Bremer at No.2 singles (6-1), and the No.2 doubles team of Bob Starkey and Tim Chiang (6-0). Honorable Mention went to Starkey at No.1 singles and Bremer and John Davis at No.1 doubles.

1. Jack Farvour concentrates as he finishes his shot. 2. Ross Leinweber eyes the green as he gets ready to putt. 3. Sean Rehder grins as he wins the match. 4. Tim Chiang cranks his forehand in practice. 5. Bob Starkey looks for the put-away overhead.

SMALL, YOUTHFUL SOCCER TEAM

The girls' soccer team finished the season on a successful note despite a rather bleak conference record. The team was small in number as well as young, boasting five senior letterwinners.

Coach Peter Litjens commented, "The girls played well both offensively and defensively, although their record didn't show this. Litjens cited Terri Moon, Lisa Olson, Sarah Litjens, Lori Newhouse, and Rachel Campbell as key players who displayed tremendous effort throughout the season.

Lori Newhouse recalled an especially interesting, yet upsetting game, "Tying Oshkosh North was kind of a disappointment although we were glad that we didn't lose." Litjens hopes to see a better conference record but appreciated the continuous effort from all players.

The girls finished the season with 2 wins and 5 tied games.

AWESOME SEASON SENDS VARSITY

The varsity baseball team rounded up an excellent season with a conference record of 10-4 and an overall record of 11-4, giving them 2nd place in conference. Catcher Nick Sphatt said, "Our defense and pitching have been awesome all year. The seniors, since they got so close to state last year, have really wanted to work, get a good record and get as far as they can."

The leading hitters were Dan Dederling(.450), Kevin Holm(.415), Brad Lind(.400), and Jason Riley(.378). Leading pitchers were Brad Lind and Rick Grable. In post season play, West beat North 8-7 at Sectionals with a spectacular comeback victory. At Regionals West showed their power by shutting out Seymour 8-0. Players receiving All-Conference Honors included Dan Dederling, Brad Lind, and Kevin Holm. Honorable Mention went to Mark Schamens, Rick Grable, and Greg Roberts. Most Valuable Player was awarded to Dan Dederling and Mark Schamens was team captain.

Other outstanding players included seniors John Kellerman, Rick Panske, Greg Smith, and junior Kyle Wesphal.

The JV team ended their season with a conference record of 9-5 and a season record of 10-5. Coach Meronk commented, "We had a good season. Many players will contribute to next year's varsity team."

It was the freshman team which finished off an outstanding baseball performance for West which finished with a cool 8-0 record which gave them the conference title.

CHRISTMAN TAKES GIRLS'

The girls' softball team, under first year coach David Christman, had its best season ever. The teams' successes included a second place finish in the FVA with an 11-3 record, a Regional Championship, and placing all seven seniors on the all conference squad. Players who received first team recognition were seniors Jill Weber, Dawn Trinosky, Heidi Neustifter, and Mary Bender. The second team honors went to Lisa Seibold, Beth Binder, and Shelly Neitzel.

"We had a well balanced team of experienced and younger players. The underclassmen really did a great job of pulling through when we needed them," commented Coach Christman.

The JV team finished with an 11-7 record. The team was led by Debbie Young and Tonya Buege in hitting.

GIRLS' TRACK GRABS FVA TITLE

The girls' track team was nothing less than spectacular with over thirty girls scoring points on the varsity team. Coach Meronk responded on the outstanding season by saying, "The girls put forth great effort and deserved to take first in the conference.

The varsity girls' team showed day in and day out that they were truly number one by taking first at the Indian, Beaver Dam, and Mount Horeb Invites, along with winning the FVA conference meet and the conference relays. Conference champions included Kristi Hendrickson in the 300M hurdles, the 800M relay team of Kristi Hendrickson, Cindy Pahlow, Paula Pesch, and Mindy Suhm, and the state-bound 1600M relay team of Mary McMahon, Cindy Demski, Marnie Potempa, and Cindy Pahlow.

The boys' varsity track team, however, did not fare as well. With a young team and injuries to key members, the boys' team finished the season with an 8th in the conference. Outstanding members included state-bound Kurt Reichow in the 100M and 200M dashes, and shot putter Matt Martell who broke the school record throwing a shot 51'6".

1. Jon Rost and Jack Clark clear the hurdles. 2. Kristen Berg and Lisa Berger leap over a set of hurdles during practice. 3. Shawn Gruenwald leaps six feet over the High-Jump bar. 4. Trevor Bruss sprints the 400 relay with great effort. 5. Bill Counts runs in time with a worthy opponent.
